WANTS CITY TO ANNUL GRANT BOULEVARD GIFT

Burns Will Introduce Ordinance Today to Repeal Franchise.

NEW MOVE IN FIGHT

To Prevent Contract to Give Control of Highway to Philadelphia Company.

WIPES OUT ENTIRE LINE

An ordinance repealing the Grant boulevard franchise ordinance, passed by the Pittsburgh councils in March, 1904, will be introduced today in councils prior to the passage of the ordinance making a contract between the city and the Philadelphia company for the removal of the tracks from the boulevard for a period of 45 years.

The repealing ordinance has been prepared by Select Councilman H. B. Burns of the Eleventh ward, and will be introduced this afternoon in select council if a quorum of that branch is obtained. If select council should not meet the ordinance will be given by Mr. Burns to some member of common council to introduce tonight. A meeting of common council is assured, because Director Bigelow is bending every energy to put through, with all possible haste, the agreement ordinance with the Philadelphia company, in the name of the Grant Street & Liberty Street Railways Company.

The repealer prepared by Dr. Burns is sweeping. It wipes out the entire franchise granted two years ago by councils to the Grant Street & Liberty Street Railways Company, then composed of Murray A. Verner, T. Hart Given and M. K. McMullin, but which afterward went into the control of the Philadelphia company.

Stops Bigelow's Contract.

The repealer takes from the company the right not only to construct a trolley line in the Grant boulevard, Craig and Dithridge streets, Strawberry and Cherry alleys, but also in Grant street and in Oliver avenue. Under the boulevard franchise double track can be built in Oliver avenue from Grant street and Liberty avenue. The contract ordinance which Director Bigelow is trying to rush through councils merely postpones for a period of 45 years the laying of trolley tracks in the Grant boulevard from Seventh avenue to Center avenue, in Cherry alley and in Craig and Dithridge streets. It still gives the company the right to construct the line down Oliver avenue, in Grant street and Dante alley to the Grant boulevard.

Councilman Burns says that even if his repealing ordinance is not passed by councils it will prevent the consummation of the contract which Director Bigelow is trying to make with the Philadelphia company, but which Mr. Bigelow himself says may be revoked by the new councils coming into power in April.

"The ordinance which I will introduce will have the same effect, I believe, on the contract ordinance which Director Bigelow is railroading through councils as a repealing ordinance has on the widening of a street," said Councilman Burns yesterday. "A street cannot be widened as long as there is a repealing ordinance pending in councils, and neither do I think the contract of the city with the Philadelphia company can be closed to give up the control of the boulevard to the Philadelphia company for 45 years as long as my ordinance is pending in councils.

Wipes Out Franchise

"I will ask that a special meeting of the corporations committee be called immediately to act on the repealer of the boulevard franchise.

"The Grant boulevard belongs to the people and the control of it should remain with councils.

"The only logical and right way to settle the question is for the city to take the franchise back.

"A clause of the boulevard franchise ordinance states that the company can abandon any portion of its line within two years after obtaining the franchise by simply certifying this fact to the city controller. If the Philadelphia company is sincere in saying that it does not wish to build a surface line in the boulevard it should certify to the city controller that it has abandoned the boulevard, and that would end the matter."

As to Mr. Guthrie's Statement.

George T. Oliver last night made the following statement in reply to an interview with George W. Guthrie, printed yesterday, in which Mr. Guthrie said Mr. Oliver could give the district attorney the information necessary to start an investigation of the Grant boulevard street railway ordinance:

"If I had any evidence that would convict any of the boulevard boodlers it would have been in the hands of the district attorney long ago, no matter whom it would hurt. While the boulevard case was pending, wishing to assist Mr. Guthrie in his efforts, I gave him some information which I thought would lead to bringing some of these people to justice. It was altogether hearsay, so far as I was concerned, but both he and I thought that convicting evidence might be secured that would lead to a definite result. I will say emphatically that all the information on this subject that I ever had is now in Mr. Guthrie's possession. I held nothing back; but I knew nothing that would be evidence in a court of law.

"My conversations with Mr. Guthrie were from their very nature confidential, and in bringing my name into this controversy he is violating not only the ethics of his profession, but that code of honor which ought to govern the conduct of every true man."

Travels 10,000 Miles to Husband-Elect

Mrs. Ada Minturn Crawford Tulian.

She received a proposal of marriage from Eugene A. Tulian, former United States fish commissioner, by cable from New York to Buenos Ayres and accepted at once by the same 10,000 mile route and was obliged to travel to New York to have the ceremony performed as Mr. Tulian, being a divorced man, could not be married in the South American city.

LOSES AGED LOVER AND HER JEWELS DISAPPEAR

Edward Litvinopsky Being Brought Back from Chicago to Face Pretty Sweetheart.

Pretty Frady Cohen mourns the loss of her aged lover and $1,700 worth of jewels. Her lover will return from Chicago today, accompanied by Detective Leff. Whether the jewels will be with them is not yet known.

Frady and her family formerly lived in Suwalk, Russia. Edward Litvinofsky also lived there, but about 10 years ago he went to Siberia and engaged in the cattle business. He made money and returned to his native town. Frady Cohen had grown to be a pretty girl and was engaged to be married. Litvinofsky was 20 years older, but became infatuated with Frady. He persuaded her to discard her lover and said he would marry her and make her rich and happy. The Cohen family was delighted.

Litvinofsky promised to emigrate with the family to this country. Three months ago the Cohen family came here and rented 7722 Kelly street. Litvinofsky came later and took up his residence with the Cohen family.

Before leaving Russia Frady Cohen's parents bought her a pair of diamond earrings valued at $500, a diamond ring at $500, a set of silverware at $400, a watch and locket at $200, and a pair of bracelets at $75. The girl placed these in her trunk. Litvinofsky had considerable money. In London he had $5,000 exchanged into United States currency, and secured a letter of credit for $7,000 on a bank in Chicago.

Last Monday Litvinofsky secured a marriage license, but the next day his love became cold and Frady alleges he went to her room, took all her jewelry and silverware and fled to Chicago. The girl, although broken hearted over the departure of her lover, went to Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide and he advised her to make information against Litvinofsky, which she did. McQuaide then notified the police at Chicago to watch for Litvinofsky when he appeared at the bank to get the $7,000 on his letter of credit. This was done and the Russian was arrested. The Cohen family are in comfortable circumstances, but were forced to leave Russia on account of the revolutionary conditions.

MANACLED APPRENTICES TUMBLE INTO THE SEA

Stirring Times During Fire at Newport Training Station—Old Constellation Narrowly Escapes.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEWPORT, R. I., Jan. 28.—Seven buildings connected with the United States naval training station at Coasters Harbor island in this city were destroyed by fire tonight, causing an estimated loss of $100,000.

By the time a bucket brigade had been formed by the 1,500 apprentice boys the flames had spread to the detention building. Several apprentices in single irons were confined in the building at the time.

Physical Instructor Joseph Kirby liberated them by a heroic effort. When he reached the detention building he could not see the young prisoners on account of the smoke, but they answered his call.

Supported by a line of men, Kirby made his way to the boys and passed them back one by one to the men behind him, and so out onto the seawall.

In passing over the seawall, two of the manacled boys fell overboard, but were rescued.

For a time the famous old frigate Constellation, which is used as a practice ship at the station, was in danger of destruction, but prompt work saved the ship.

FLYER DASHES INTO RAILS AND TIES ON THE TRACK

Attempt to Wreck a Fast Ft. Wayne Railroad Train Near Ambridge, Pennsylvania.

A force of Pennsylvania railroad detectives was sent out of Pittsburgh yesterday evening to make a search for the perpetrators of an attempt to wreck the Cleveland flyer, one of the fastest trains running west of Pittsburgh. While traveling at the rate of more than 50 miles an hour the flyer that left Allegheny station at 6:05, city time, last evening, crashed into an obstacle on the rails just west of Ambridge. That the entire train did not leave the track and plunge into the Ohio river is considered almost a miracle, as investigation revealed the fact that a rail and a heavy tie had been laid across both rails.

The pony wheels of the engine struck these and hurled them across the eastbound tracks. The steel rail, before falling, became wedged against the front of the engine and plowed up part of the track next that on which the flyer was traveling. The train got a violent jolt, both from the impact of the collision and the sudden throwing on of the air to bring it to a stop. Passengers were thrown from their seats and in the express car considerable damage and confusion was caused.

The train was stopped quickly and an examination made. The flyer was practically uninjured, and after several minutes' delay, resumed its run toward Cleveland. A gang was put to work to repair the damage to the track and special police operatives from along the entire system were detailed to go to Ambridge to aid in running down those who are responsible for the crime.

GETS HIS REASON QUICKLY.

Prisoner Who Feigned Insanity Drops the Dodge When Woman Comes to Jail.

AKRON, O., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Henry Schaeffer, aged 38, arrested in Pittsburgh for burglary committed here and now in the local county jail, feigned insanity for a month, but suddenly got over it today. Schaeffer would tear his clothing to pieces. His trousers he tore into small rags. Another pair was given him. These met the same fate. Then the sheriff gave him no more and Schaeffer kicked up his heels and howled in crazy abandon.

Today a woman visitor to the jail passed his cell. Schaeffer crouched in the corner, trying to hide. After she had gone he called the sheriff, told him he had been pretending and promised to be good. He was given pants.

A COAST OF MISFORTUNE.

Vessel Driving Upon the Reefs Near Where Big Valencia Was Wrecked a Week Ago.

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 28.—A big barque believed to be the Admiral Courbet is in distress off Vancouver island coast, near Carmanah. The lighthouse keeper reported at 5 o'clock p. m. that the barque was within a mile of shore, with a big swell setting in. Tugs have been dispatched to her aid.

The weather is cold, but the heavy swell is carrying the barque ashore.

The Admiral Courbet is a French vessel of 1,740 tons, and is bound for Tacoma from San Francisco, whence she sailed January 17.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY OF THE PACIFIC OCEAN

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 28.—A telegram today from Barnfield says that the halibut fishing schooner Ella G. has turned turtle, and six men were drowned. Among the lost is Alexander McLean, who was commander of the illegal sealing vessel Carmencita.

SUSPECT IN JAIL DECLARES REDS CANNOT BE CAUGHT

John Spada, the Alleged Anarchist, Makes Partial Confession.

MANY HIDING PLACES

But the Italian's Reticence Will Not Permit Him to Give Information.

MORE WARRANTS SWORN OUT

Special Telegram From
JOHN P. COWAN, Staff Correspondent.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Jan. 28.—John Spada, the alleged chief of the Monongahela valley group of anarchists, in the Washington county jail today made a partial confession to his share in the plots which are reputed to have been hatched out by a local band of followers of the red flag. He admitted that the officers are on the right trail, but declared little evidence could be found against anarchistic suspects.

"What can they prove?" asked Spada. "Nobody will tell anything, and the letters they have found contain little that is incriminating.

"Oh, yes; the officers are on the right track—everybody seems to know that. If they had looked in the right place they would have found the papers—I guess you don't need to know any more."

Not Afraid of Comrades Talking.

The Italian laughed when he said this, and refused to divulge anything further. He has frequently repeated that no member of the groups would give the authorities any information as to the identity of their comrades.

Chief of Police Leo Logan of Monongahela has about 30 warrants for the arrest of prominent anarchists in the valley. They were given to him in Washington yesterday by District Attorney Owen C. Underwood. The chief has ceased talking and today kept away from his usual haunts, desiring to make his next raid without giving the suspected Italians a chance to warn their countrymen.

The officers today disguised themselves and quietly crossed the Fayette county line to observe what was going on in the vicinity of Believernon, where a group of "reds" is known to have been for several months. It was not the purpose of the sleuths in disguise to make a raid at this time.

Looking for Printing Outfit.

The leaders of the Fayette county band are said to have adroitly avoided revealing their meeting place to persons who have not been received into their body.

The officers are looking for a printing outfit which is said to have been used in printing anarchistic literature. This press is said to be somewhere in the valley, and that the papers printed thereon is sent to all parts of the country. This hint came as a result of the postoffice department's investigation, and just now is not receiving the attention of the county authorities.

District Attorney Underwood, according to a dispatch from Washington, stated that he had information that a big meeting of red flag adherents was to be held in the valley tomorrow night and he would have officers on the ground to arrest any one of the group for whom warrants had been issued.

Fast Southern Train Wrecked.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Jan. 28.—The "Frisco Limited," bound for Kansas City, which left here Saturday night over the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, was wrecked by a broken rail one mile north of Dora, at midnight. The mail and baggage car turned over and the second-class coach carrying a number of negroes, was derailed.

BIG SECRET ESCAPES FROM WHITE HOUSE

Latest photograph of Miss Roosevelt. Copyrighted, 1905, by Johnston, New York.

In Whispers, "Miss Roosevelt Will Wear Pale Blue Going-Away Gown."

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Latest among the bits of information in regard to Miss Roosevelt's wedding plans that from time to time become public, in spite of the secrecy maintained at the White House, is that Miss Roosevelt has chosen for her going-away gown a pale blue cloth. Strange as it may seem, it is the only bit of information Miss Roosevelt has permitted herself to divulge about her trousseau. Even Mr. Longworth has not had a hint, but, of course, his tastes have been consulted.

In an unguarded moment, however, Miss Alice let slip the momentous piece of information that she was going to wear pale blue for a going-away gown. Pale blue will look very pretty driving away from the White House in a shower of rice, but pale blue on a railway train is another story. Somewhere to the southward, it is rumored, will be the young couple's destination for their honeymoon.

When they come back Mrs. Longworth, Sr., will have the bride's new home in readiness for her and be there to welcome her, and, what is more, Miss Roosevelt, lucky in so many things, is to be lucky in another. Mrs. Longworth is to relieve her new daughter-in-law of all responsibility regarding household cares and will run the house for the bride, who so far knows nothing of managing a house and servants.

TOODLES HAS BUSY TIME.

Pet Dog Spoils Security of Miss Roosevelt and Her Affiancied's Afternoon Walk.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A dinner party, an automobile ride and an exciting time with little "Toodles," Miss Roosevelt's pet Japanese spaniel, who treed a cat on the lawn, were the features of the quiet day which the President's daughter spent in the country today at Ambassador Griscom's home, Dolobran, near Haverford.

It was a happy day for Miss Roosevelt, for Congressman Longworth was there all day.

It was in the quiet walk before dinner that "Toodles" created a furore.

"Toodles" brought itself up under a frightened maltese pussy's nose and they surveyed each other in silence. Then the cat unsheathed its claws. "Quick," cried Miss Alice, gathering her skirts to run, and beckoning Mr. Longworth to follow, "don't let that awful pussy scratch Toodles."

The cat, seeing reinforcements coming, deemed discretion the better part of valor and fled homeward.

COSTLY PRESENTS COME FROM CHINESE EMPRESS

PEKIN, Jan 28.—The dowager empress has sent to the American legation a number of wedding presents for Miss Roosevelt. The presents consist of costly jewels, silks and ermine robes.

ENTWINED FLAGS OF NORTH AND SOUTH BIND CASKET

Services Over Body of Gen. Wheeler, Man Who Typified Reunion.

"YANKEE AND REBEL"

Body of the Hero of Two Wars Is Given a Notable Tribute of Honor in New York City.

HIS LIFE A GREAT VICTORY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan 28.—An imposing military pageant passing across Brooklyn bridge, brief services at St. Thomas Episcopal church in Fifth avenue and an escort across the North river ferry to Jersey City, where the body was placed on a train to be taken to Washington for interment in the National cemetery at Arlington, marked the funeral in this city today of Brig.-Gen. Joseph Wheeler, cavalry leader of the confederacy and later one of the most prominent figures among the generals of the Spanish-American war.

The body of the dead soldier was wrapped in the flags under which he had served with almost equal vigor and distinction—the stars and bars of the confederate states and the stars and stripes. Veterans of the southern and northern armies mingled today in paying tribute to Gen. Wheeler with the younger veterans of the Cuban and Philippines organizations of 1898 and 1899.

The route of the funeral cortege was lined with great crowds, most of whom stood with bared heads as the procession passed.

Place of Honor.

The funeral took place from the home of Gen. Wheeler's sister, Mrs. Sterling Smith in Brooklyn, where Gen. Wheeler died on Thursday of pneumonia. The body was borne from the house by eight noncommissioned officers of infantry, and placed upon a flag draped artillery caisson.

Squadron C and a detail of the Second battery of artillery escorted the body, and on the Manhattan side of the bridge the Seventy-first regiment, New York National guard, in full dress uniform, was drawn up. The Seventy-first, commanded by Col. W. G. Bates, served under Gen. Wheeler in Cuba, and today was given the post of honor. Infantry from Governor's Island, headquarters of the Department of the East, United States army, also joined the procession on this side of the river.

From Brooklyn bridge the lines of march lay across town to Washington square and thence up Fifth avenue from Eighth street to Fifty-third street to St. Thomas church. A riderless horse, with boots reversed in the stirrups and a cavalry sword dangling from the saddle, was led just behind the caisson.

Wreath from President.

The church was thronged. Seats had been reserved for members of the Southern society, the Confederate Veteran association, the Society of the War of 1812, several other organizations and the personal friends of the family.

Reservations also had been made for the honorary pallbearers, the staff of Gen. Frederick Grant, U. S. A., and the officers of the escort. The altar of the church was almost hidden beneath the floral offerings, one among them, a great wreath, sent by President Roosevelt.

The brief services were conducted by the Rev. Ernest Stires, rector of the church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix. The honorary pallbearers were Col. J. J. Astor, R. T. Wilson, Fitch Smith, Dr. John Wyeth, John McKesson, S. R. Bertron, Dr. William M. Polk, Com. Parker, U. S. N., Archer Huntington, Gen. J. H. Wilson, Gen. Kent, Senator Clark of Montana, Charles S. Fairchild, Gen. O. O. Howard, U. S. N., retired, Gen. Stewart L. Woodford, Dr. R. Ogden Doremus and Dr. Lemuel Parrius.

After the casket had been placed on the pedestals the full-vested choir of St. Thomas' entered the church singing as a processional hymn, "Lead Kindly Light." Dr. Stires said:

Life Victory.

This is one of the great occasions of our lives. For we are met to honor the memory of a rare man. I do not speak to you of him principally as a statesman, citizen or soldier, for the mere record of his deeds is far more eloquent than any praise of ours could be. It is of the man I think at this hour. Was he entitled to be called great? It is not difficult for you to decide.

He was distinguished by courage without rashness, by wisdom without pride, by gentleness without weakness, by patience without heedlessness, and by justice which always leaned toward mercy. He honored man, he trusted man, and to every man he was ready to give his time, his substance, his heart.

The north gives him unstinted honor. The south, even in her grief, is proud of her ever loyal son. Cuba, for whose freedom he fought, sobs out her grief across the waves, and the whole world pauses for a moment today to declare that this was indeed a man.

Let there be little of sadness here. We are not commemorating a defeat, but the victory of life—the triumph of a noble character.

Following the church services the body was escorted to Jersey City, where it was placed on board a train of the Pennsylvania railroad, which left for Washington shortly after 4 o'clock.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The body of Gen. Wheeler arrived at 10:35 tonight and was taken to St. John's church. A detachment of Spanish War Veterans formed an escort from the station, and constituted a guard of honor at the casket. This detachment will remain as guard until the regular army guard takes its place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

PITTSBURGH'S CHANCE FOR THE NEW POSTOFFICE IS BRIGHTER

Sentiment for Public Building Bill Is Growing and Will Be Passed If Senate Can Be Curbed by House Leaders.

Special Telegram From
L. W. STRAYER, Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The outlook for a new postoffice building for Pittsburgh is growing brighter. It is now stated by the leaders of the house that there is a strong probability of the house passing a public building bill at this session, and in that event every effort will be made by the Pennsylvania senators and congressmen to have the appropriation asked for in Representative Burke's bill incorporated in the general bill.

Mr. Burke's bill calls for an appropriation of $3,000,000, and the proposition is enthusiastically backed by Representatives Barchfeld and Dalzell.

It is generally understood that the fear of the house leaders is that if a bill carrying total appropriations of about $10,000,000 is passed by the house and goes to the senate, it will there be loaded down with additional appropriations that may run the total up to $100,000,000 or more.

An effort is being made to arrive at an understanding with the senate leaders and the senate committee on public buildings, of which Senator Scott of West Virginia is chairman, by which any bill passed by the house is not to be loaded down by the senate beyond a specified amount. If such an arrangement can be made it is quite certain a bill will be reported by the house committee.

Representative Burke has talked with every member of the house committee and urged the incorporation of an appropriation for Pittsburgh if a bill is to be made up. From some of these members he has received encouragement, while others have told him that if any bill is to be reported it should be the last one formulated by the committee, as the cities mentioned in that bill would have prior claims. This view, however, is not entertained by all of the members of the committee.

If it is decided to have a public building bill, Mr. Burke will arrange for a hearing before the committee, at which the claim of Pittsburgh can be brought forward. There will be no trouble in showing the needs of the city in this direction, for the reports of the government officers who have examined into the congested condition of the present federal building will substantiate all claims of that sort.

Mr. Burke left for Pittsburgh tonight.

PRACTICAL WORK OF BIG REVIVAL

Good Gambling House Is Declared to Be Better Than a Bad Church.

LUNCH, PRAYERS AND SONG

Something bad that is well done is better than something good badly done.

A gambling house or a horse race, properly conducted, is better than a church poorly conducted. Therefore:

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

I am strenuously opposed to rag-time. The world has been ragged to death. I feel toward rag-time as I do toward automobiles, and if I had my way they would all blow up.

The brother with a good voice that carries the hosannas to the sky is just that much nearer heaven.

The devil never annoys the man who prays. When satan approaches, just pray again.

These were some of the epigrams that like a flash of flame from a disconnected trolley pole last night punctuated the revival services in the Bethel African Methodist Episcopal church. Fifteen hundred worshipers filled the auditorium, and with fervent religious enthusiasm lifted up their voices in song and prayer. It was no characteristic "shouting" service. There was no moaning, no pitiful tales of sin, no vociferous recital of "experiences" and no hysterics. Everybody was happy, cheerful and evidently moved by the more quiet visitations of the spirit. There was more music than eloquence, more smiles than tears.

The Rev. Dr. J. M. Townsend, pastor of the flock at Bethel, says that practical Christianity is the best, accomplishes more of Christ's work and in the end saves more souls from perdition. He said:

"Why pray for a man who is hungry? What good is to be accomplished if you want him to sing words of praise to the Lord if his back is bare and his toes are out? If he is hungry nature will lead him to steal bread, no matter how much you talk to him about the sin of breaking the eighth commandment. If he is cold and footsore, there will be no echo of praise in his voice."

Following this line of reasoning, the pastor has conducted his revival along practical lines. Every Friday night he holds all night services for the benefit of those who are obliged to work during the late evening hours, and incidentally catches the crowds that spend their evenings in saloons and pool rooms. A lunch is set out on the tables at midnight and everybody is invited. In this way he reaches all classes and, of course, strikes straight home to the souls of some by the way of their stomachs. But he has found this way effective and expects to continue his campaign for good.

All the colored bootblacks in the city are to be reorganized and the young men will be taught to lead better ways. The saloon, the opium joints and the poolrooms will be marked as especial fields for reform and for the harvesting of likely proselytes. The women of the church likewise are prosecuting a similar work among women who are without the pale of the church or who have refused to hearken to the "old, old story."

Bethel church is too small and a committee was appointed last night to look for a larger meeting place. An effort is being made to secure one of the downtown theaters for Sunday services.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS, IS GERMAN TARIFF CRY

Counsellor of Embassy at Washington States His Country's Position in Present Situation.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Baron von Bussche-Haddenhausen, the counsellor of the Germany embassy, today expressed the opinion that the tariff problem between Germany and the United States would eventually be solved. The baron desired it understood he was giving his personal views and was not speaking officially. He said:

"Germany and Germans believe that although the American congress always will be antagonistic to a reciprocity treaty as past congressional legislation seems to show—it will find a way out of the present difficulty. It must be remembered that the American congress alone is slow—if I may use that word—to act, but the reichstag and the German senate, both have their way of going about things.

"Germany views the question of tariff with a sentiment purely commercial, what the Americans would call 'business is business.'"

Asked if he thought it possible the Franco-German troubles may seriously affect the German-American tariff, he said:

"Hardly, inasmuch as the Franco-German trouble is not so very serious, after all, when it is seen from the inside. Germany wants the open door in Morocco, just as Uncle Sam wants it."

FOOTPADS' ATTACK ENDS IN MURDER

Workman Slain While on His Way Home from the Mills Near East Youngstown.

THREE OTHERS BADLY HURT

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 28.—One murder has been committed and five men held up three of whom are in a serious condition at East Youngstown as a result of assaults committed by highwaymen early this morning. The footpads secured $700 from their victims. The dead man is Peter Tighe and the injured men are Jacob Eidelman, Alexander and Michael Dykovic.

Peter Tighe is a puddler, employed at the Youngstown sheet and tube mills, and with two other men, was held up by desperadoes while on his way home about 2 o'clock. He was struck on the head and his skull fractured. As he lay on the ground, the robbers searched his pockets, but obtained nothing. The other two men were unharmed. Tighe died at 10:30 o'clock tonight.

Alexander Dykovic conducts a saloon and his brother is employed as bartender. Early this morning a man entered the place and secured a drink. Later he returned with two other men, who, after securing drinks, asked for tobies. The tobacco case is at the end of the bar and when Alexander went to get the tobies one of the men fired a revolver at him, but the bullet went wide, and the man knocked him down.

Michael, who had been covered with a revolver, ran to the assistance of his brother. Seizing a billiard cue Michael struck his brother's assailant and knocked him down. The thief who had Michael covered fired his revolver, the ball striking the bartender in the shoulder. The wounded man was then beaten into unconsciousness with the butt of a revolver. The robbers took $500 from the cash register and fled. Neighbors heard the shots and went to the rescue of the men, who were sent to the Youngstown hospital.

Eidelman, who is a butcher, was held up by three men at the door of his butcher shop as he was closing up for the night. The men said they wanted to purchase a ham, and as Eidelman turned to unlock the door he was felled with a piece of gaspipe. The thieves took $200 from his pockets and fled. Owing to the frequent holdups and assaults in the streets at night the community is becoming terrorized and people fear to go out on the street after dark.

PENNSYLVANIA PLANTS SUPPLYING NEW ROAD

Another Cuban Railway in Which Pittsburghers Are Said to Be Interested Being Constructed.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—The Northeastern Cuba Railroad Company, controlled by the Cuba Eastern Railroad Company, in which Pittsburghers are interested, which has been organized for the purpose of building and operating a standard gauge railroad to open the LaMaya valley, said to be one of the richest sugar, mahogany, coffee and cocoa districts in Cuba, has made arrangements to connect with the Cuba Railroad Company's line. Construction work has commenced.

Large shipments of various material and equipment for the new line went forward this week from Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania plants. Five hundred tons of bridge material were sent from the Pennsylvania Steel Company's plant at Beaver Falls. The Lackawanna Steel Company forwarded 2,500,000 tons of 80-pound rails and 250 tons of spikes and splice bars. The Ramapo Iron Works sent 60 tons of frogs and switches. The American Car & Foundry Company shipped five passenger coaches, twenty box and twenty flat cars.

The line is expected to be in active operation by the middle of the year. It will cost $2,000,000. More contracts for rails, etc., will be let very shortly.

TO REDUCE ACTUARY'S FEES THREE-FOURTHS

Senator Fox's Bill Allows Half-Cent Per Thousand and Provides $5,000 Salary.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Excessive fees charged insurance companies for the services of the actuary of the state insurance department will be done away with if the legislature enacts a bill dealing with the fee system, which will be introduced this week. Under the present system the companies have been charged 2 cents for every $1,000 worth of insurance valued. The new bill, prepared by State Senator John E. Fox of Harrisburg, cuts the rate to half a cent.

At the 2-cent rate about $85,000 a year in fees is pouring into the insurance department, and according to Actuary Forster, practically the entire sum went to Israel W. Durham when he was insurance commissioner. With a half-cent rate in force it is estimated that the annual fee of the actuary would be $8,000, and that this amount would be adequate to run the actuary's end of the department and allow him a fair salary.

Senator Fox's bill will fix the salary of the actuary at not to exceed $5,000 a year and that the actuary's fees shall be paid into the state treasury.

FELT MIND WEAKENING.

Young Van Reypen Chose Death Rather Than Inflict Himself as Insane Charge on Family.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—A statement tonight on behalf of the family of Admiral Van Reypen, U. S. N., (retired), whose son, William K. Van Reypen, Jr., committed suicide in his apartments in West Forty-fourth street by shooting, says he had been subject to attacks of melancholia for four years.

These attacks were brought on by overwork. He frequently expressed the opinion to his father that his mind was giving away and complained of this belief to a college friend the day before his death. To another friend he said he wanted to go west and live a simpler, out-of-door life. On Friday he called on two of the leading brain specialists. He believed his death would bring less distress to the family than if he should go mad.

ORDERS BOMBARDMENT.

Moroccan Gunboat Ordered to Shell Factory Which Is Suppiying Warlike Pretender.

MADRID, Jan. 28.—According to a dispatch from Melilla, the Spanish seaport on the north coast of Morocco, the troops of the pretender, Bu Hamara, have ravaged the Riff region, a coast range of heights and mountains in northern Morocco, bordering on the Mediterranean, wild and difficult of access, and in great part inhabited by the Riff Berbers. There was much fighting, in which the loyal Khabyle tribesmen were invariably beaten.

Mohammed El Torres, the minister of foreign affairs, who heads the Moroccan delegation at Algeciras, learning that a factory at Marchia is engaged principally in furnishing the pretender with arms and munitions of war, has sent a telegram to his son, ordering the dispatch of the warship Turki with instructions that it bombard the factory.

HURRIES TO THE RESCUE AND IS BADLY BURNED

Bartender Has Close Call Trying to Save Children During a Short But Exciting Fire in Penn Avenue.

Searching for children in a house which was on fire one man was badly burned and another was injured while rescuing a pet dog. The butcher shop of Michael Glac, 1643 Penn avenue, was discovered on fire yesterday morning by Frank Kearns, brother of Select Councilman Patrick Kearns. He turned in an alarm from box 122 and found the house locked.

James Gatins, a bartender, was attracted by a little dog howling from a second-story window, and climbed up to rescue the animal. He was making his descent down a spout when it broke, and he was severely bruised by contact with the pavement.

In the meantime a report was circulated in the crowd watching the fire that several children were in the house. John Slattery, another bartender, kicked in the front door and ran up through the fire and smoke to the upper floor, where he searched in vain for the children supposed to be there. When Slattery got out his hair was singed, his hands and face burned, and his clothing ruined. The firemen quickly put out the flames.

Michael Glac, who occupies the house, left home early yesterday morning with his family to attend a christening in Thirty-eighth street. He was informed of the fire by the police last night. His loss will be about $100. The building is owned by Patrick Kearns, whose loss is about $1,000.

BRIBE IS OFFERED TO KIDNAP TAYLOR

Mayor Bookwalter of Indianapolis Offered $25,000 for Capture of Kentuckian.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 28.—It became known today that a bold attempt was once made to bribe Mayor Bookwalter to permit the kidnaping and forcible return to Kentucky of W. S. Taylor, former governor of that state, who was indicted for complicity in the murder of William Gobel, and who fled to Indiana and has since been a resident of this city.

It was during Mayor Bookwalter's first term as mayor that he received an invitation to visit Cincinnati from a personal friend. He accepted the invitation and shortly after meeting his friend at a hotel in Cincinnati, Col. Tom Campbell, a noted lawyer, who was identified with the unsuccessful effort to extradite Taylor, was introduced to Mr. Bookwalter.

After dinner Col. Campbell said that he would like a few words with Mr. Bookwalter alone. To this Mr. Bookwalter demurred, but on Col. Campbell persisting in the request, the host withdrew. Col. Campbell then wasted no words.

He immediately explained that it was known, of course, that he was more than anxious to have Mr. Taylor returned to Kentucky for trial, and he declared that a fund of $100,000 had been raised to accomplish this purpose.

He suggested that a few words from Mayor Bookwalter to his chief of police would make it possible for the Kentuckians to go to Indianapolis, forcibly get possession of Taylor, and be off to Kentucky before any one would know of it.

Despite the protests of Mayor Bookwalter, Col. Campbell further stated that he would place $25,000 in the hands of Mr. Bookwalter's Cincinnati friend, to be turned over to Mr. Bookwalter the day Taylor should cross the line into Kentucky, and when this was not effective, made the offer stronger by saying the money would be sent to Mr. Bookwalter direct in advance of the kidnaping.

Mayor Bookwalter immediately left the room. When the story was told to Mayor Bookwalter he admitted that it was true.

BOMB EXPLODES IN BIG TENEMENT HOUSE

Believed to Have Been Cast by Former Owner—One Woman Frightened Insane.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WORCESTER, MASS., Jan. 28.—A dynamite bomb hurled through a second-story window of the house of Paul Moszczynski, 32 Union avenue, early this morning exploded and tore away the rear part of the house, blowing out the floors, and rear wall. Twenty-two persons were asleep in the house.

The wife of Daniel C. Book, who was ill, was rendered insane by the explosion. She was taken to a hospital tonight.

Valeska Burakvicz, aged 22, was asleep in the room adjoining where the explosion took place, and was buried under debris, but not seriously hurt.

The cap of the bomb went through the wall of the house, 40 Richland street, 150 feet away and was found in a picture frame in the home of William J. Riordan. The force of the explosion shook the whole section of the city.

The police are looking for Frank Czybonowski and his wife, formerly part owners of the building, from possession of which they were evicted by mortgage proceedings.

A second bomb, eight inches long and made of two and a half inch gas pipe was found in the yard and is in possession of the chief of police.

CHARTERS PULLMAN CAR TO AID HIS ELOPEMENT

Baltimore Widower Invites His Friends, but Not His Grown Children on Jolly Trip.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

BALTIMORE, MD., Jan. 28.—An elopement in which a private Pullman car was chartered to take the friends of the prospective bride and groom from Baltimore to New York has aroused the interests of the friends of John T. Tibbals and Mrs. Carrie Elsercade. Mr. Tibbals is a member of the wholesale commission house of Judd & Tibbals. He has been a widower and has a fine home here. He is the father of grown children. Little is known among his friends about Mrs. Elsercade. She has been living at a restaurant.

Close friends of the prospective bridegroom were notified to be at Union station shortly after midnight this morning. They found attached to a New York express a Pullman car, chartered for the occasion and stocked with all sorts of good things to eat and drink. They left at half past 12 o'clock.

CHURCH AND SOCIETY MUST CLASP HANDS

Rabbi Krauskopf Scores Vanities Which Attract Women to Church Merely to Show Garments.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—"Society and the church must join hands. There must be concessions on each side. Society must admit the need of religion; the church must grant the need of social pleasures. A reasonable union between the two will accomplish worlds of good."

In a sermon that stands out because of its strikingness and forceful arguments these sentiments were expressed today by the Rev. Joseph Krauskopf at the Keneseth Israel synagogue.

America is in the heyday of its prosperity, he admitted, but it is also in the gravest danger it has ever faced. If it is not to go the way of other great nations that have gone before it, there must be a union of the church and society. Dr. Krauskopf said:

"Hundreds upon hundreds of society people, young and old, men and women, husbands and wives, fathers and mothers, never see the inside of a house of God from year's beginning to year's end. "Ah, yes, were we to introduce the fashion of making a church a dress parade, were the newspapers to publish on Monday mornings the names of the fashionable people who attended church on Sundays and the creations of the milliners' and the dressmakers' art they wore, churches would be crowded with society people every Sunday and pew rents would rise to an extraordinary degree."

INSANE POLICE OFFICER HOLDS UP ENTIRE FORCE

Tries to Kill His Children, Abuses Women and Barricades Himself in House, Defying All.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PEORIA, ILL., Jan. 28.—Charles Harwood, a former policeman, thought to be insane, entered police headquarters this afternoon and with a revolver held up Chief of Police Kennedy and seven officers for 15 minutes while he cursed them and threatened to shoot the entire crowd. He snapped a cartridge, but it did not discharge. He then backed out of the station and escaped.

An hour later, Harwood appeared near his home in Bigelow street, entered the home of Mrs. Montgomery, whom he knocked down with the butt of a revolver. He then entered his own house, taking a shotgun and a revolver, and barricaded himself.

Up to a late hour tonight, he had defied arrest by a squad of policemen, who surrounded the house. Saturday night, Harwood compelled his wife to disrobe, and then he drove her naked into the street.

This morning he attempted to take the life of his children.

DUNNE SIGNS BILLS.

Chicago Will Now Vote on Issuing $75,000,000 Bonds for Purchasing Street Railways.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Mayor E. F. Dunne tonight announced that he had signed the street railway municipal ownership ordinances recently passed by the city council. The ordinances will go before the people for approval by ballot this spring. The ordinances provide for the issuance of $75,000,000 in certificates and empowers the city to own and operate street railways.

If the ordinances pass popular vote, the mayor expects test cases of the Mueller law, under which money will be secured to buy roads and equipment and also fears the present traction systems will oppose municipalization, but rests content in the belief that his plans will be realized within 15 months.

COAL SITUATION VERY STRAINED

Discord Breaks Out Among the Delegates and President Mitchell Is Worried.

PITTSBURGHERS FOR ADVANCE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Jan. 28.—While there were no scheduled conferences today looking to a settlement of the miners' wage scale, there were a number of meetings among leaders, and it has developed that the situation is very much strained. President John Mitchell is a worried man. There is discord among the anthracite delegates because at the Shamokin convention Mitchell prevailed upon them to frame up a polite and obsequious declaration placing the issue in the miners leaders' hands with the understanding that something definite in the way of demands would be framed up at this conference. It has not been done.

Former President Gildea of the anthracite miners said to your correspondent today: "We have been brought here for a false purpose. The anthracite miners can hope for absolutely nothing in the way of concessions. The other side has gained its first victory in forcing us to the humiliating position of going all the way to the seaboard to meet them. Compliance with such a proposal reveals our first weakness. It has utterly disgusted me."

The anthracite conference will take place in New York the 15th of next month. It will probably accomplish nothing if no settlement is reached here, as the anthracite interests have been awaiting the result of this meeting. While the delegates of the central fields came to this meeting mainly uninstructed, if there is an adjournment till after the anthracite meeting it is extremely likely that in the face of the miners' convention wage demands their constituents will send the delegates back to an adjourned meeting bound to exact an advance.

Sixty per cent of the Pittsburgh miners' delegation is determined to stand out for a wage advance. Ohio miners threaten to fight for an advance to the point of an adjournment. The Illinois delegation, led by W. D. Ryan, the secretary-treasurer and one of the staunchest friends of Mitchell, will not consider the demand of the operators that they secure the repeal of the shot firers' law, which adds substantially to the cost of the coal to the operators. President Mitchell of the miners and H. N. Taylor, leader of the Illinois operators, were in conference at the Claypool hotel this evening in an ineffectual effort to patch up differences.

If the miners fail to secure any concessions the brunt of the defeat will be upon Mitchell. Ostensibly leading his organization for a round wage advance it was put entirely out of the question by his failure to accept the challenge of President Robbins of the Pittsburgh Coal Company for an adjustment based on sales of today and those when the agreement was fixed two years ago. He backed from his position to force the southwestern fields into this conference and there is general dissatisfaction among his delegates.

A settlement is further blocked by the action of the miners in holding up the central field wage scale till such time as the conference of the southwestern fields, also in session here, is ready to sign an agreement, and time will be lost in arranging for terms for both fields on practically the same basis.

Some of the miners' leaders predict a disagreement. Mitchell is not saying anything on this score. Your correspondent, who has been watching these conferences since the initial interstate agreement in Chicago in 1898, believes, however, that a settlement on the present basis will be reached by the end of the week.

Samuel J. Lidy, an old soldier, aged 75, died at the Homeopathic hospital at 2:40 a. m. yesterday from pneumonia and erysipelas. He went to the hospital on January 19 with a badly bruised arm and said he had fallen down stairs at 32 Diamond square, where he lived. PATRICK WORKS WITHOUT CEASE ON HIS PAPERS

Much Cheered Over Change in Popular Favor and Is Confident of His Ultimate Freedom.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

OSSINING, N. Y., Jan. 28.—Albert T. Patrick, unaffected by the fact that under the court's sentence he would have died in the electric chair at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning, devoted his Sunday at Sing Sing prison, as he is devoting all of his other days, to going over the case his lawyers will present to the courts in asking for him a new trial on the charge of the murder of William Marsh Rice.

Although the turn his case has taken in popular favor has not rendered the man more confident than he always has been, it has cheered him up. He works at his case every minute of the day possible. He has frequent interviews with his lawyers and with members of his family.

Patrick's confidence has inspired the general belief among prison officials that he will obtain a new trial, from which he will not be returned to the "death house."

REVOLUTIONISTS KILL SOLDIERS

Serious Encounters Are Reported Between People and Troops in Interior Towns.

VLADIVOSTOK QUIET AGAIN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—It is reported from Kutais, in trans-Caucasia, that serious encounters have taken place there between revolutionists and the troops, in which several of the latter were killed. The arrival of Gen. Alikhanoff with troops from Tiflis brought about the restoration of order, the revolutionists taking flight.

Count Witte today received a telegram from Gen. Linevitch reporting that all was quiet with the Manchurian armies. The general also reports that order prevails at Vladivostok, where the mutinous sailors have been disarmed.

The newspapers publish interesting accounts received by mail of the disorders in the smaller cities of the interior during the period of armed revolt, many of which passed unnoticed at the time owing to the interruption of telegraphic communication. In a number of instances the troops were defeated and driven out of the towns or forced to surrender.

At Sotssi, in the Black sea, 80 Cossacks of the garrison who attempted to disperse a gathering in the market place were routed by the revolutionists and forced to flee to their barracks outside the town, where they were regularly besieged. The insurgents brought up an old cannon from the port and bombarded the barracks for two days, with such effect that the Cossacks were forced to surrender.

Republic Is Short Lived.

The triumph of the revolutionists was short-lived, however, for a torpedo boat destroyer arrived from Batoum and the population at the first threat of a bombardment hastened to liberate the prisoners and to deliver up their arms, as well as the funds of the city treasury, which had been taken to the mountains.

A letter from Pyatigorsk, in Ciscaucasis, describes the rise and fall of the "North Caucasian republic," which had a short and thrilling history of a month. After the revolt of the reserve battalion garrisoning Pyatigorsk, the soldiers were joined by the entire population of that and four neighboring cities. A constituent assembly was summoned and a "revolutionary army" formed, consisting of the mutinous soldiers, who were led by a renegade Cossack officer, and several bands of the fighting branch of the revolutionary organizations and other irregulars.

This "army" carried on a successful campaign against the troops guarding the railroad stations, who were driven back for some 40 miles along the line with considerable loss. The revolutionists conceived the plan of marching to Rostoff-on-Don, 250 miles away, and even talked of continuing on to Kharkoff to join hands with the supposed revolutionary army there.

Are Killed by Cossacks.

They were to stop on the way and attack the important arsenal at Georgievsk, where there are large stores of rifles, cannon and machine guns.

The "army" was attacked by three companies of Cossacks, whom it defeated with heavy loss, most of the survivors being killed during their flight across the thin ice of a stream. Later the "army" encountered a column consisting of infantry, a battery of artillery and several companies of Cossacks. This column was too strong to be resisted and the revolutionary leaders after a hasty council of war fled. The "Republic" then came to an end.

At Viatka, in the government of that name, a band largely composed of school boys and school girls, seized the water works, which they held for 15 hours, against a whole battalion of infantry. The troops were attacked in the rear by two companies of revolutionaries, who were finally driven to a fortified house. This house was captured after a bombardment lasting two hours. Among the killed was the colonel commanding the troops.

MAY PROVE A MURDERER.

Relatives of Mrs. Rosa Mangrum and Authorities Believe She Was Killed and Robbed.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Jan. 28.—The body of Mrs. Rosa Mangrum, which was found in the Ohio river at Cairo, Ill., Thursday and positively identified at Cairo today by O. G. Mangrum and Mrs. Florence Trousdale of Birmingham, Ala., respectively husband and sister of the dead woman, was brought here tonight. Mrs. Mangrum's relatives believe she was chloroformed and robbed, and her body thrown into the river to hide the crime.

Detectives at work on the case, it is said, have a clue substantiating the theory of murder. Mrs. Mangrum left here on the night of December 14, saying she was going to St. Louis to visit relatives. She carried with her between $1,500 and $1,800 in money and jewelry valued at $2,000. After she reached the Union station there all trace of her was lost.

MAGOON ARRIVES.

Governor of Canal Zone Reaches New York—Expenses of Railroad Greatly Increased.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Among the passengers who arrived today on the steamer Finance, from Colon, was Charles E. Magoon, governor of the Panama canal zone. He said there had not been a case of yellow fever in Panama in 74 days. The health of the canal zone was excellent, work on the canal was progressing rapidly and satisfactorily. He will go at once to Washington.

PANAMA, Jan. 28.—The general manager of the Panama railroad conferred today with all the heads of departments. It is rumored that the object of the conference was to investigate whether it is true that the running expenses have been increased 50 per cent.

LOCAL MUSEUM GETS FINEST BOOK

Sumptuous Copy of a $2,000-Tome Is Added to Carnegie Collection.

RECORD OF JADE ORNAMENTS

A copy of the most costly and most sumptuous book ever issued from the press has just been added to the library of the Carnegie museum. It is an elaborate treatise on jades and is in two large folio volumes, costing $1,000 each to produce. Dr. W. J. Holland, director of the museum, intends as soon as possible to place the book with other interesting rarities of a scientific character on exhibition in the museum library.

The late Herbert R. Bishop of New York assembled what is undoubtedly the finest collection of jades which has ever been brought together, and it occupied a splendid apartment in his home during his lifetime. By the terms of his will he bequeathed the collection to the Metropolitan museum of art, accompanying the gift with a large sum of money which was to be used in reproducing the room in which he had left the collection and in providing for the preservation of the collection intact as he left it. He also expended nearly $200,000 in preparing a great work upon jades, and instructed his executors to complete the work, granting them discretion to employ so much money as might be necessary to bring it out in the form and along the lines he had planned.

No Expense Was Spared.

In producing the book he spared no expense, employing the most skillful artists and engravers, among these being a number of Chinese and Japanese artists. The executors limited the edition to 100 copies. Two of these copies under the United States copyright law went to the library of congress, the remaining 98 copies went to the various governments and to the leading museums of the world.

Dr. Holland declares the book is probably the most sumptuous and costly that ever appeared from the press. It is bound in two large folio volumes in full levant binding with satin lining, gilt tops and uncut edges. It is from the press of Devinne in New York. The two volumes together weigh 140 pounds. The colored plates are marvelous reproductions of the objects represented. Immediately after printing the plates were destroyed so that no more copies will be printed. Philadelphia possesses the only other copy which exists in Pennsylvania. Pittsburgh very nearly missed the opportunity to secure the great work, and had it not been that at the eleventh hour Dr. Holland reached the ears of the executors of Mr. Bishop's estate, the local copy would have been sent elsewhere.

Another Work on Jades.

"Its acquisition by the museum at this time is a matter of very great importance," said Dr. Holland, "as Prof. C. V. Hartman of the museum has been engaged during the last year in preparing for publication of a work upon the jade ornaments of the Velasco and Troyo collections, which were acquired some years ago by the Carnegie museum. These are the two largest collections of jade ornaments made by the aborigines of Costa Rica and Central America, which have ever been assembled, and, so far as Central American jades are concerned, these collections even surpass those which belonged to Mr. Bishop, in which there were comparatively few specimens of carved jades of American origin."

The museum has purchased the collection of shells assembled by Dr. Victor Sterki of New Philadelphia, O. It contains many thousands of species of shells, which added to those which the museum already possesses, will make the augmented collection one of great importance.

PEACEMAKERS ARE CUT.

Interfere to Save Wife a Beating and Are Now in the Pittsburgh Hospital.

Walter Hallstock and Israel Price, two negroes of 415 Wicklow street, attempted to interfere in a quarrel between Grant Jackson and his wife, Lelia, also negroes, with the result that both are lying in the Pittsburgh hospital with severe stab wounds, while Jackson is locked up in the East End police station to await the result of their injuries.

A celebration took place at the Jackson home, 413 Fannel street, on Saturday night, and beside Jackson and his wife there were present Cora Wyatt and Hallstock and Price. About 2:30 o'clock Sunday morning Jackson became incensed at his wife, and started to beat her. Hallstock and Price interfered, and after they thought the quarrel had been stopped left the house. They had gone but a short distance when they heard Mrs. Jackson scream, and returned to be met at the door by Jackson, who attacked them with a knife. Hallstock was stabbed in the abdomen, twice in the back and once in the neck, while Price was cut below the heart and on the left arm. Jackson fled.

Lieut. Jerry Walsh and Special Officer Robert Richards went to the Jackson house. They sent the two wounded men to the hospital and locked up Mrs. Jackson and Cora Wyatt as witnesses. Later Jackson was arrested in South Negley avenue.

As neither Hallstock nor Price were able to appear against Jackson yesterday morning, Magistrate Negley held him over. It is thought the men will be able to appear against their assailant tomorrow morning.

MATCH LOCATES GAS LEAK WITH THE USUAL RESULT

W. H. Coughan of 1115 Walnut street, McKeesport, was burned about the head and face in a gas explosion in his home yesterday morning. Mr. Coughan went to the cellar to hunt a gas leak with a lighted match. An explosion followed. The family ran from the house terrified and the fire company was called. The fire was put out with little loss. Mr. Coughan was found in the cellar by a fireman.

Seat Sale for Mansfield.

The sale of seats for Richard Mansfield's seven appearances at the Nixon next week will begin tomorrow morning, two days earlier than the usual day for opening the sale. An extraordinary demand is anticipated, for the mail order list is already the largest this city has ever known. Mansfield's repertoire will include "The Misanthrope," "The Merchant of Venice," "Beau Brummell," "King Richard III," "Don Carlos," "The Scarlet Letter" and "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Claims Boy Was Robbing House.

Peter Speigel, aged 17, who says he has no home, was given a hearing before Magistrate Abernathy at Allegheny Central station yesterday, charged with being a suspicious person. It was testified he was caught ransacking the cupboard of a house in the rear of the Church of the Most Holy Name, Troy Hill, Saturday afternoon. A house was robbed in the neighborhood last week of $32, and some jewelry, and it was thought he had a hand in the job. He was sent 20 days to jail.

Mrs. Taggart Prepares for Fight.

WOOSTER, O., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—That Mrs. Grace Taggart, the divorced wife of Capt. Elmore F. Taggart, intends fighting through the courts for the custody of the two children, was made manifest last night when the transcript of the case was filed in the circuit court. Whether the case will be heard at the term of court beginning February 13 is not yet known.

STANDARD'S EDICT DEMORALIZES OIL FIELD

Will Accept Only One-Third of Midcontinent Production Because of Suits.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BARTLESVILLE, I. T., Jan. 28.—Orders have been received at the Standard Oil Company offices that hereafter only a third of the mid-continent fields' output would be bought, owing to the fact that the Standard will be prevented from continuing as a buyer and transporter of petroleum through the proceedings instituted by Attorney General Hadley of Missouri.

There is a production of 50,000 barrels daily.

The operators are organizing to send a delegation to see the Standard company's agents in Kansas City, since the enforcement of such an order for long would soon mean the suspension of activity.

Failing, they will go to Mr. Hadley to see if he intends to prevent the Standard from transporting oil across Missouri.

The committee will tell him that if the Standard is ousted from Missouri it will shut off the market for petroleum products in this field, because the pipe line from the mid-continent fields runs through a portion of Missouri.

Already the reduction by two-thirds of the amount formerly taken by the Standard company has demoralized business, and there are fears the Standard will cease entirely to take oil during the agitation.

WANT ANOTHER ADVANCE IN WINDOW GLASS PRICES

Independent Manufacturers Expected to Announce Further Rise of 10 Per Cent This Week.

Announcement was made last night by one of the most active members of the newly organized independent window glass manufacturers' association that at the coming meeting of the organization, to be held in the Fort Pitt hotel on Thursday, a further increase of 10 per cent would be ordered on the selling price of window glass. This action would fix the price 25 per cent higher than that prevailing previous to the organization of the manufacturers three weeks ago.

It was further stated that unless the independent manufacturers agreed to this further advance that the whole structure of the new organization would collapse, as the interests demanding this further advance were determined that it be sanctioned by the organization. It is believed that with this additional 10 per cent increase the industry will again find itself upon a profitable basis, and that the demands of the Amalgamated Association of Window Glass Workers can be met and harmony be established. Efforts are now being made among Cleveland capitalists to have the new organization, which is capitalized at $1,000,000, properly financed, and it is said that $2,000,000 capital will be required to properly effect the organization which is to act in the capacity of a holdings company for all the pots included in the organization.

NOTED PRIEST DIES.

Father O'Keefe, Confederate Chaplain, Friend of Gen. Lee and Holder of French Decoration, Passes Away.

TOWSON, MD., Jan. 28.—The Rev. Matthew O'Keefe, pastor of the Roman Catholic church of the Immaculate Conception, died today of pneumonia contracted while responding to calls to attend the sick. He was 78 years old and a native of Waterford, Ireland. Father O'Keefe was the last surviving brigade chaplain of the confederate army, having been chaplain of Mahone's brigade of the Army of Northern Virginia, and a close personal friend of Gen. Robert E. Lee and Jefferson Davis.

Father O'Keefe made himself famous throughout the south by his work during the outbreak of yellow fever at Norfolk and Portsmouth in 1855, and in 1889 won the red ribbon of the Legion of Honor by his attendance upon the officers and crew of a fever-stricken French frigate that put in at Hampton Roads. He is said to have died practically penniless, having devoted his large fortune to church work.

VATICAN PEACEFULLY ACCEPTS FRENCH LAW

ROME, Jan. 28.—The commission of cardinals, charged with the investigation of the situation between France and the vatican, has terminated its sittings. The commission has drawn up a report for presentation to Pope Pius, which it is understood, favors the peaceful acceptance of the French law for the separation of church and state.

CLAIM MEN ARE CLEVER THIEVES

Bailey and Malone, Under Arrest Said to Have Committed Many Robberies.

USE REVOLVERS ON VICTIMS

The city detectives are of the opinion they have captured two men who have been committing highway robberies in this city recently. After H. S. Bailey of 276 East Robinson street, Allegheny, was arrested early yesterday morning for shooting Joseph Connelly of 618 Kilbuck street, Allegheny, at Third street and Liberty avenue, Detectives Elmore and Seiffert went to Bailey's house and arrested Jesse Malone, Catherine Miller and Annie Brown, and brought them to Central station.

Yesterday morning Bailey and Malone were identified by J. Werner of 2011 Bluff street as the men who robbed him Friday night in Forbes, near Marion street. S. McKay of Riley & McKay, hardware dealers at 2626 Carson street, South Side, also identified the two men as those who were in their store last Tuesday pricing revolvers. That night the store was robbed of a dozen revolvers valued at $50.

The four revolvers found on Malone and Bailey were identified by McKay yesterday as having been stolen from his store. Little is known about the women. They say they are working as waitresses in a restaurant in Wylie avenue, and know nothing about Bailey and Malone.

Michael McNulty of 2246 Wylie avenue and Peter Tanney of 407 Walker street, Allegheny, who were with Connelly when he was shot, are being held as witnesses against Malone and Bailey. McNulty, Tanney and Connelly were walking in Liberty avenue. Connelly had been drinking and fell on the pavement. McNulty and Tanney walked on for about 50 yards, and when they turned saw Connelly struggling with Bailey and Malone.

They went to Connelly's assistance and as they neared him, Bailey drew a revolver and shot Connelly through the neck. Connelly fell and Tanney and McNulty ran after Bailey. Policeman McCarroll heard the shooting and took up the chase, capturing Bailey. Malone escaped to Allegheny and later was arrested. Bailey and Malone answer the description of the men who have committed a dozen or more highway robberies within the last two weeks. An effort will be made today to find these victims and have them try and identify the men as their assailants.

Connelly is at the Homeopathic hospital. His injuries are not serious. He identified Malone and Bailey as his assailants.

BATTLE OF AMAZONS.

Lulu and Sarah Have a Lively Time in Spring Alley, and Try to Drive Off Policeman.

Two black Amazons disturbed the Sabbath calm of Spring alley yesterday afternoon. Lulu Williams lives at 2701 and Sarah Kenney of 2703. While they are neighbors, they are not friends, and each is 5 feet 10 inches in height, and built proportionately.

The women went at each other with clubs until they were tired. After the battle Lulu told Sarah that if she, Sarah, put her foot on her, Lulu's steps, she, Lulu, would douse her with scalding water. Sarah would not take a dare and Lulu doused her.

Patrol Wagonman Harry Sweeney saw the water thrown and started up Spring alley to arrest the women. As he neared them both grabbed their clubs and started for him. He got a hold on their weapons before they could use them, and after a hard struggle locked up both.

SOCIALISTS HOLD MEETING.

Large Audience Is Attracted, but the Speeches Are Not Interesting.

Under the auspices of the Socialist party of Allegheny county a large meeting was held in Central Turner hall, Forbes street, to commemorate "Red Sunday in Russia," yesterday afternoon. Contrary to expectation, the speeches were neither rabid nor eloquent, the speakers confining their efforts to ridiculing, in a weak way, those persons who did not hold their views. And "Red Sunday" was apparently forgotten.

John S. Holmes of Wilkinsburg assailed the press, the state legislature and the national government, but said nothing new or interesting, and Samuel Mirvis, a Russian Jew, spoke in Yiddish on the "Position of the Jewish Socialist During the Present Political Turmoil in Russia." Walter Thomas Mills, of Chicago, who was scheduled to speak, was unable to be present owing to a death in his family.

MOZART CLUB TO RENDER WORKS BY EDWARD ELGAR

The Mozart club will give two works by Edward Elgar at Carnegie Music hall tomorrow evening, J. P. McCollum conducting, and the Pittsburgh orchestra providing the instrumental music. The first half of the program includes the major portion of "The Dream of Gerontius," in which the soloists will be Christine Miller of Pittsburgh, contralto; Nicholas Douty of Philadelphia, tenor, and Julian Walker of New York, bass. A ballad for chorus and orchestra, without solo voices, entitled "The Banner of Saint George," forms the latter part of the program. This ballad is quite new to Pittsburgh, but as it is so well suited to such a large chorus as the Mozart club, it will doubtless be very effective.

Car Collision Smashes Windows.

A South Highland car collided with an East Wilkinsburg car at Fifth avenue and Hallet street last night about 5:30 o'clock, resulting in a number of the winodws in the cars being broken. Motorman Kaibell of the East Wilkinsburg car was cut about the hands by flying glass, but the passengers escaped unhurt.

The Wardrobe Trunk as an Adjunct of the Traveler's Luggage.

A very efficient adjunct, especially if the traveler is going to stop for any length of time at any given place. This wardrobe trunk is about as capacious as a regular wardrobe and the amount of clothes it will hold is simply astonishing.

It is sub-divided into more different parts than we can take time to relate, but we can say this that it is altogether as admirable as a chiffonier, or a bureau or a wardrobe.

Besides it is very strongly built, and that's a good point.

We have Wardrobe Trunks both for men and women, and, counting in their great utility, they are quite inexpensive.

Our New Silks.

Among the new weaves of silk that are going to be very popular this Spring is a rough weave in pongee. The name of this rough weave is the Princess. To understand the effectiveness of this rough silk it must be seen and its making up discussed with some one who understands designing silk dresses.

It is a 26-inch wide silk and sells for $1.00 a yard. Of course all the new Spring tones are included in the showing, champagne, Alice blue, delft blue, reseda, old rose, lilac, gobelin, helio, white, ivory, cream, ceil and mauve.

Among the other new silks that are in receptive mood are the following popular weaves:

Rajah, a royal silk, shown in all the newest Spring shades, a silk that also belongs to the rough family, 32 inches wide, $1.25 a yard.

In black silks we have the Taffeta Stella, a black taffeta, bright and rich in finish, guaranteed for long wear. Two widths are shown, 36 inches wide at $1.25 a yard, 26 inches wide at $1.00 a yard.

Black Taffeta Mirage, a taffeta with a very high luster and a very soft finish, 45 inches wide, $2.00 a yard.

More Ostrich Plumes at $2.00 Each.

But they will not be ready until tomorrow. We never saw anything like the demand for these plumes. We introduced them on Wednesday of last week and by Saturday we had sold more than 1,200 plumes, just about 800 more than we had any idea of selling.

540 came in Friday morning and the invoice was about exhausted last Saturday. Telegraphing for more we had a wire that they would be shipped today, so we can promise their being ready tomorrow when the store opens at 8 o'clock.

Every woman who has bought these plumes has recognized the worth of them, some worth $3.00, others worth $5.00.

Monday, January 29, 1906.

A characteristic of Pittsburgh is illustrated in the progress of Rodeph Shalom congregation. Five years ago it built a new temple in Eighth street, cost, about $75,000. It has just let a contract for another new temple in Fifth avenue to cost $250,000, the site having cost $60,000. The new temple is necessary to accommodate the vastly increased congregation. Pittsburgh and its institutions keep moving.

School teachers in the territory adjacent to Pittsburgh favor the Greater Pittsburgh, without exception. By annexation they will come into salaries commensurate with their arduous professional preparation and occupation. Besides the school teachers are able to see the less personal benefits of the measure to all members of the community, one of which is superior educational facilities for those now outside the city.

Removal of the produce market from the Monongahela to the Allegheny river wharf will be a convenience to dealers and commission men. Farther along it may result in concentrating the Pittsburgh markets in that vicinity, utilizing the space under the Pennsylvania tracks as that under the Wabash is being used, though with the revenues accruing to the city instead of the railroad. There are some advantages to be gained.

It has long been the burden of consular communications from South and Central American countries that American trade was making less progress than it should. There has recently been a change for the better in steel rails, at least. The Lackawanna Steel Company placed a large order a short time ago and now the United States Steel Corporation has placed a larger. These rails are for electric roads and Pittsburgh will do some trade in supplying equipment.

Very much public interest attaches to the work of the scale committee in session at Indianapolis. The convention on Saturday had reached what the French call an impasse. Reference to the committee was a happy thought. Discussion by a small body contains less opportunity for heated rejoinder and more possibilities for exercise of reason than discussion in a large convention. It is universally hoped miners and operators will reach an amicable agreement.

Dr. H. B. Burns proposes to introduce in council an ordinance to repeal the ordinance granting rights in Grant boulevard and other streets to the Grant and Liberty Street railway. This expresses the exact measure of restitution due the city in that case. An agreement to close the boulevard and the other streets is not a return, but a ratification of pre-emption. The ordinance proposed by Dr. Burns will test the good faith of those who are talking about "restoration" as a reason for stay of proceedings.

St. Petersburg dispatches report a most significant remark of Emperor Nicholas when toasting the health of Emperor William of Germany on the occasion of the latter's birthday. The czar's reference to his "brother emperor" was affectionate and he followed it by a remark addressed to the German ambassador putting the "brother" above his "ally." It is probably natural. Yet the world must wonder if there is in Russia no gratitude to France for all it has sacrificed and all it has risked for Russia's sake.

The Parkersburg correspondent of The Gazette affects to see in the decision of the supreme court of the United States, which removes the immunity that Senator Caldwell and Judge Blizzard enjoyed under a former decision of the United States district court from the clutches of the investigating committee of the West Virginia legislature, a revival of factional quarrels in the Republican party of that state. It is an unusual week, indeed, in West Virginia that we do not hear of the rehabilitation of the so-called "insurgents." This is nothing more than a mythical organization, the fable being kept alive by the Democratic press of the state for party purposes. The matter in question between Caldwell and Blizzard is altogether a personal one, with reference to ex-Gov. White and Gov. Dawson, and is not of a factional character. The Republican party of West Virginia will present a united front when the time for action arrives.

Greater Pittsburgh, Now.

Rumors have been bruited about for several days that some Allegheny county members of legislature are lukewarm in support of the Greater Pittsburgh bill—that party considerations may interfere with the adoption of that measure. The Gazette does not know there is any foundation of truth for these rumors, but takes cognizance of them to say there should not be an iota of truth in them. The Greater Pittsburgh is for the public benefit and every member of the general assembly from here should be using his utmost influence for its prompt passage.

In this matter there is no question of partisan politics and attempts to inject partisan feeling are reprehensible. The next mayor of Pittsburgh, be he Republican or Democrat, it may be assumed will be capable of administering the affairs of the greater city. It is the privilege of the individual voter to support the candidate he deems best qualified for the task, but the selection of a mayor is secondary to accomplishment of the Greater Pittsburgh. A mayor is for three years—the greater city is permanent.

It is the duty of every good citizen who is anxious for the welfare of the city to support this measure. It is particularly the duty of every member of the legislature to give his active assistance. Consolidation of these cities will be an advantage to every inhabitant of them and of benefit to the state. If the bill is vigorously supported it may pass the house this week as it is on the calendar for immediate consideration. Every representative may know the eyes of his constituents are on him and if he proves recreant to his duty it will be resented. The time is at hand for united and vigorous work for Greater Pittsburgh.

Panama Certainties.

Senator Millard has assured The Gazette's Washington correspondent he believes three things are certain to be enacted concerning the Panama canal. First, letting the work by contract; second, waiving of the eight-hour day law; third, opening the isthmus to any kind of labor the contractors can procure. The first of these will alter the functions of the canal commission and, in some degree, may affect its personnel. The senate will be apt to insist on reduction of its membership and possibly of its salaries.

As for the second and third they are practically essential to successful prosecution of the enterprise. Enforcement of the eight-hour day in Panama would add materially to the expense of the canal project, deprive laborers of the opportunity to earn reasonably good wages and add to their personal discontent. No such value can be set on leisure on the isthmus as in this country, nor can more work be safely crowded into an hour of a short day than in the hour of a longer work-day.

Contractors should be free to get their labor where they may, if the work is to be done by contract. They can be trusted to employ Americans in all the more responsible positions for the American is the most efficient workman. As for common labor, it cannot be found in this country in adequate supply. Labor is now too fully employed here. Even in the states the greater part of common labor is performed by aliens, some of whom intend to become citizens; many of whom do not. These three things should help greatly to a solution of Panama difficulties. The Gazette has, from the first, favored construction by capable contractors, it has never had any sympathy with an eight-hour day under Panama conditions and it long ago pointed out the practical impossibility of obtaining sufficient common labor in the United States. Congress should, however, stipulate purchase of materials and supplies in this country.

Iowa's Insurance Scandals.

New York's insurance scandal finds an echo in the startling charges against Iowa life insurance companies, involving their business methods, made on the floor of the state senate. The senator who made the accusations did not deal in glittering generalities but was specific in detailing the offenses of the accused companies. If what he says is true, it is high time the insurance affairs of that state be investigated. While the developments of graft, crookedness, extravagance and violation of the law are not on such a stupendous scale as those practiced by the New York companies recently under fire, they are proportionately scandalous.

It is charged nepotism was practiced in one company, similar to that which obtained in one of the New York concerns, with the diverting difference that the wife of the president, who drew a $12,000 salary, is vice president with a yearly compensation of $6,000. The disclosure was made that one company faked its business to the extent of $83,000 in one year. It is charged insurance to that amount was written in one year for which not a cent in premiums was collected, and every cent of which lapsed the next year. This extra insurance was written to make a good book showing. Another company complained of made a loan of $103,000 on land in Idaho, the actual worth of which was but a little over $8,000. Instead of watering its stock it appears this same company watered its collateral, as it was charged an irrigation company had been organized to flood this land, and the insurance company was part owner of it. Still another company was accused of allowing much of its money to remain idle in the bank of the treasurer instead of receiving interest.

It was remarked in the course of the discussion of these matters in the Iowa senate that one insurance officer "instead of driving bobtailed horses about the streets ought to be in the penitentiary," a characterization of misdeeds plain enough in its way. There is a charge of lobbying and expensive "entertainment" of legislators. But it is not likely the lobby has money or influence enough to put to sleep the charges, for the policyholders will want to know why these things have been done and demand a reform that cannot be smothered in committee room pigeon holes.

Legislative Mistake.

It is rather obvious the house at Harrisburg made a mistake in deciding the bill of S. J. Smith of Indiana did not come under the call of the governor for the special session. The bill limits the amount for which contracts may be made for the repair of county bridges without advertising for bids. The governor's call, seventh clause, says: "To designate the amount to be expended each year in the erection of county bridges, and to take such other measures in regard to them as safety may require."

This language certainly covers the purport of the Smith bill and the mistake of last week should be rectified when the subject is brought up today. Graft in county bridges has become notorious. It has caused scandal in many counties in the state and it is probable not all of the wrong doing has been exposed. Every bridge contract, in fact, is held under suspicion. An end should be put to this state of affairs. The Smith bill is good as far as it goes, though it does not cover the whole ground.

The prevalent type of county bridge should be abolished. More permanent structures can be erected for less money—structures that would need practically no repair for many years. Law on this subject might be enacted under the governor's call, though it has not been touched by any of the bills introduced. Up to date engineering practice favors armored concrete arches, when honestly constructed, and while it may not be advisable to prescribe these by law, county authorities ought to look into their merits. In any event the law should require competitive bidding—actual, not feigned, competition—and should limit the amount to be spent at discretion.

A Jury of Her Peers.

An Akron dispatch declares Miss Anna Bock of that city "made a big mistake" when she consented to appear in court in a tailor-made suit which she claimed was faulty and did not fit. The real mistake consisted not in wearing the suit to court, but in failing to insist on a jury of her peers, women, who are the only competent authorities on the fit of a gown. The plaintiff, a tailor, sued for the price of the suit, $75, and produced two expert witnesses, tailors, who declared, of course, the suit was a perfect fit. Professional jealousy, it might have been supposed, would induce them to testify otherwise, but tailors are a clannish set, and whatever their private opinions of rivals' ability, realize the importance of standing together in public. A victory won by a dissatisfied customer is bad for the business of all.

The jury, it seems, was composed of "staid citizens." What do staid citizens know of the hang of a skirt, the "set" of a jacket? It is a well-known fact that every woman can tell just what is the matter with the clothes of every other woman, even when the blemishes of fit or material are not apparent to the most observant man. Man is noted for his inability to tell what a woman "had on." He can rarely tell, even, when a hat is on straight. It is not his fault. His faculties simply have not been developed along that line. If a dozen women declared Miss Bock's suit didn't fit, the tailor might rely on the justness of the verdict. Similarly, if they found it did fit, Miss Bock would have no cause to feel aggrieved. She could pay the bill cheerfully, knowing that if 12 women agreed regarding her clothes they must be eminently correct and garments to be proud of. Men have no more business deciding such cases than women would have in a suit involving the quality of a box of imported cigars.

After the light committee has held its last meeting and is preparing its reports to councils, the Dispatch comes along with this plaint: "The Hon. John Upperman industriously omits to call a meeting of that committee." When the Dispatch begins to catch up it may discover the Hon. John Upperman is also a "Bigelow Republican."

From the way New York keeps busy "cleaning up" there must have been quite an accumulation of "dirt" there since Tweed's days.

It must be said the New York supreme court is taking ample time to look up the law points in Henry H. Rogers' case.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

The Mills of the Pioneers Ground Slow, but Not Too Fine.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Have you ever taken a grist of wheat or corn to a country mill? If not you will hardly be able to fully appreciate the country mill, particularly one belonging to the class known as thunder-gust mills.

Streams that are now dry for more than half the year were never dry in the days before the land through which they ran was cleared of timber and undergrowth.

During the winter and spring these streams would keep a grist mill clattering or a saw mill thumping right along. In the summer time these could only be run by heads, which meant the water slowly collected in the dam over night and during the day.

But when a lively thunder shower or gust came up there would be marked activity at the mill, and among its patrons.

When the neighborhood mill failed to grind for want of water the people not only missed the water, but they had to fall back on something more primitive than flour and meal for food.

* * *

Possibly you have, as a boy, gone to mill with a sack of grain hung across the back of a steady old farm horse and you on top of the load.

This was all right until you started down the hill to the mill, for the mill was ever at the foot of a hill.

To keep the sack of grain from going off over the horse's head was a most serious problem, and only equalled by the effort to keep the sack of meal from sliding off over the horse's tail on your return home.

Sometimes the sack would show a tendency to slide off sideways, and sometimes it did, but as a rule a boy could manage to keep it on. But if it fell off the boy would have to go and call some men folk to come and put it on again.

Mr. Quiet Observer:—There seems to be in the Quiet Observer column a desire for old-time recollections. I will jot down a few that are not of hearsay, but of things that I have seen.

One writer in your column, a week or two ago, spoke of the time when goods were hauled by teams from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. He speaks of them as being corralled in what is now the heart of the city. I have seen many of those teams as they slowly crept on their way to the city.

The little school house that I attended was some 40 miles east of Pittsburgh and stood beside the road on which those teams passed. When a bell-team passed there was a good bit of craning of necks to see out of the windows. At those times the teacher was not overstrict as to keeping order.

The teams usually consisted of six horses, and hauled about five tons of goods. There was an occasional eight-horse team, and it was generally the eight-horse team that sported the bells.

There was no lack of entertainment for team and teamster. Hotels or taverns, as they were then called, were plentifully scattered along the road. Every tavern had its wagon yard into which the teams were driven for the night.

Every yard had a supply of "gear-poles," a thing which few of your readers ever heard of. They were poles some 10 feet long, and were used to hang the harness—called gears—on over night. One was stuck through the spokes of the front wheels of the wagon and beneath the bed, and three sets of gears hung on each pole. A feed trough was placed on the wagon tongue and three horses placed on each side. They were fed, and a bunch of hay placed before each one and there they stayed, rain or shine, all night.

The wagoners—as the drivers were called—carried their beds with them, and when it came time to retire, they spread their beds on the bar room floor and slept comfortably, or otherwise. I have seen many of those men, but do not now know of one living.

The stage coaches went past at a lively rate, carrying 10 passengers and also mail. They changed teams every 10 miles. It took about five or 10 minutes to make the change, and then were off again. The stage driver held the wagoner in contempt and would not lodge at the same tavern if he could avoid it.

I would like to speak of some of the things I have seen on that old turnpike, but my letter is getting too long. In 1846 Capt. Naylor's company of cavalry stopped at the school house spring, fed their horses and took their noon lunch. That was at the outbreak of the war with Mexico. There were no railroads then and they rode from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh. After the war was over I saw the victorious Gen. Taylor travel the same route. I well remember his appearance.

You doubtless have heard of Col. Johnston, who killed Tecumseh? I also had the pleasure of seeing him on this same old road.

You have heard of prairie schooners? Well, we had them here in the '40s. Many two-horse covered wagons passed the school house. Some were marked Ohio, and some even as far west as Indiana. We called them "movers." Each wagon carried a man and his family and some household goods, going west to secure a home.

Mr. Quiet Observer:—I read in today's Gazette of the flour mills on Saw Mill run. There must have been a great quantity of flour made near Pittsburgh. I read in Harris' Directory of Pittsburgh that in 1794 a Frenchman named Louis Tarascon came to Philadelphia as an importer of silks and German goods. He was very wealthy and enterprising, and in 1799 sent two of his clerks to examine the course of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers to New Orleans and ascertain the practicability of sending ships from Pittsburgh, ready rigged, to the West Indies and Europe.

The men reported favorably and Mr. Tarascon associated them and his brothers in a firm—John A. Tarascon Brothers, James Berthoud & Company, establishing a retail and wholesale store, warehouse, and ship yard, with everything necessary to complete vessels for sea. In 1801 they built the Amity, of 120 tons; 1802, the ship Pittsburgh, 250 tons; afterward they built the Nanino, Louisiana and the Western Trader, of 400 tons. The Amity was loaded with flour and sent to St. Thomas, and the others also with flour, to Philadelphia, from whence they sent them to Bordeux and brought back wine, brandy and other such goods, part of which they sent in wagons to Pittsburgh, at a carriage of from six to eight cents per pound.

In 1796 three of the royal princes of Orleans came to Pittsburgh where they remained for some time. Wishing to return to New Orleans they procured a barge skiff, part of which was covered with tow linen, laid in a supply of provisions, secured two men to row them to New Orleans. One of these princes was Louis Philippe, king of France, who, in his exile, visited Pittsburgh, spending his time with Gen. Neville and Gen. James O'Harra, who lived on the banks of the Monongahela.

ENGLISH VICTORY FOR HENRY GEORGE

Premier Campbell-Bannerman Is Committed to Single Tax.. End of Great Monopoly.

(Special Correspondence to The Gazette.)

LONDON, Jan. 29.—Upholders of Henry George's principles have cause to rejoice in the great Liberal landslide in England. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the new premier, has definitely committed his government to one of the principles advocated by all Henry Georgians from time immemorial—the taxation of land values.

Besides the prime minister, the most important members of the cabinet are well known advocates of taxation of land values. Among these are Mr. Asquith, chancellor of the exchequer; Sir Edward Grey, Mr. John Morley, Mr. Haldane, Earl of Carrington, Mr. Bryce, the Earl of Aberdeen, Mr. Robert Gladstone and others. There is naturally great rejoicing at the offices of the English League for the Taxation of Land Values. Frederick Verinder, its secretary, who has been connected with the movement in England for a quarter of a century, expressed himself as elated over the results obtained by the agitation which practically began on the street corners in 1881.

"By the way," he said, "people all over England have been surprised at the arguments advanced in this election by workingmen, and the supposedly 'ignorant classes' on the mooted points of protection vs. free trade.

Spread Henry George's Book.

"So it may interest you to hear that Henry George's book, 'Protection and Free Trade,' to the extent of 30,000 copies was placed by our league where it would do the most good; and we also sent out daily, long before the election, practically hundreds of thousands of leaflets setting forth plainly just what we meant by land-value taxation."

"But is the prime minister sincere in his utterances on that head, or were they only made to catch the popular vote?" I asked.

"I have every reason to believe that Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman means exactly what he says," answered the single taxer, "and will carry out all his promises. He is committed definitely and irrevocably to the principle of taxation of land-values, and, even if he were not, there are many other members of the cabinet who are in favor of the principle."

"I suppose, in England—with the great landlords, and all the property in the hands of a few, it was not easy to get these principles before the country?"

"Well, I admit there were enormous difficulties, and now that we have won," replied Mr. Verinder, "I feel that we have a right to feel in high spirits over the real triumph of Henry George's principles."

Principle of Taxation.

"In a few words—what is the principle of the taxation of land values—how would it work; and what would it accomplish?" was asked.

"That's a big question, but, briefly: As taxes are today a class of men who own the ground reap all the benefit from improvements made by their neighbors. The man who spends capital on his property, puts up buildings, and improvements, is taxed for these very improvements, while the man next to him, who holds his property 'for a rise,' gets the benefit of all surrounding improvements and does nothing toward them. Every municipal improvement, street cars, sewers, building of roads, every mortal gain to the community, helps these land-owners.

"In England no tax is paid on unoccupied land; and the property is enhanced with every improvement. Every day the selling price goes up by leaps and bounds. The community make the value for them; and yet they 'hold up' the people when the latter want to buy. There are most valuable sites all over England—there are monopolies in land that are worse than any American trusts—and yet they are not paying a penny of taxes.

Effect of Taxing Property.

"With the taxing of the value of the land, or what it would sell at in open market, we would force these men either to build and improve their property, or to sell it reasonably. The worst features of the non-payment of taxes is seen in the suburbs of places like London where building lots are commanding high figures simply because the London street cars and London improvements paid for out of the people's pockets are making this property valuable and bringing it into demand; and yet the landlords are not paying anything but ridiculously low ground rents—$15 to $20 a year on pieces of ground worth thousands of dollars."

"What will the land-value tax do for the people?" Mr. Verinder was asked.

"Lots of things," he replied, "but principally it will remedy evils of overcrowding by bringing a lot of cheap land into the market. If owners were going to be taxed for bare ground just the same as if it had buildings on it—that is, taxed at its selling value, they could not afford to hold it without improving it."

Poultney Bigelow's Cellars.

In reply to Poultney Bigelow's statement that copious rains caused the water to fill cellars and ruin many Panama houses, Chairman Shonts points out that there are no cellars in Panama. It is with such flimsy arguments as this that the administration seeks to discredit caustic criticisms. Suppose there are no cellars—that isn't Poultney's fault, is it? Why doesn't the commission dig some?—Kansas City Journal.

Would Sound Well.

The poor people always did have to pay their fare when riding on railroad trains, and now that the rich, too, have to go down into their pockets to pay for rides, the public ought to come in for a share of the benefits derived from the change. The announcement of two-cent rate and mileage books on which $10 deposits are not required would sound well to the general run of citizens of Pennsylvania.—Connellsville News.

CARELESS PACKING OF THE AMERICANS

Cases Cited Where Goods Received in China Were Utterly Destroyed.

Special Agent Crist, writing from Tientsin, the great commercial depot of North China, describes at length the manner in which goods are packed in this country and the wretched condition they are received at their destination. He establishes the correctness and forcefulness of charges that have been so frequently made and reiterated by our consuls relative to American methods in dealing in foreign markets. The first instance cited by Mr. Crist was that of a shipment from a western manufacturer of window glass. "This lot," says the special agent, "comprised eight packages of opaque or figured window glass in wooden boxes. From the invoice there had been, apparently, 80 sheets of glass placed in flat boxes, each box containing 10 sheets. These boxes, or cases, were constructed of three-eighths wood on the sides and five-eighths inch on the ends. The wood was entirely too light in weight and, being of soft pine, was subject to fracture on very slight jar or strain. The sheets of glass were evidently laid in the boxes with loose hay. Hay might have been sufficient if it had been securely woven about each separate sheet of glass. Each box was then carefully wrapped in more hay and the whole encased in a gunny sack. There was no marking upon the sacks to indicate their contents, and upon ordinary examination they appeared to contain only hay, straw, or other indestructible merchandise. The covering of hay was not thick enough to shield the sides of the boxes from blows and knocks, but thick enough to disguise the presence of the box, and having no strength to sustain weights independent of the slight support given by the fragile box it would have been far better if there had been no such covering and the boxes had been shipped bare, with the cautionary signs usual in shipments of glass or other fragile commodities. Had this been done the boxes would have been stowed in places on shipboard to insure their safety. Instead of that in all likelihood they were placed with other baled and sacked cargo, and from the appearance of the glass it was quite apparent other sacks had been placed on top of them. Under the most favorable conditions these boxes could not have withstood the weight of a single bale of piece goods, and if several thousand pounds of flour sacks should have been loaded after the eight sacks of glass had been placed in the ship's hold the weight would have completely crushed them. At any stage of the transit these goods were liable to destruction, and it is impossible to state at what stage they were destroyed. Upon opening two of the sacks the boxes were found crushed and the contents utterly destroyed. There was not a piece of glass left larger than possibly eight or nine inches in length, with jagged edges, and varying from one inch to four or five inches in its greatest width."

"Piano Player" Knocked Out.

Another instance to which reference is made is that of a "piano player" from an eastern manufacturer. "This machine," writes Mr. Crist, "was carefully and superbly packed in all save one or two details. There should have been placed inside of the piano player case two blocks of wood, one at each end of the main horizontal piece, which appears to sustain the mechanism of the player, so as to securely support the uprights at its ends and prevent any lateral play. These uprights are of light stuff, sufficiently strong to answer the purpose for which they are meant, but entirely inadequate to withstand any unusual side wrench or strain to which every machine is liable in combined rail and ocean transit. This was one of an order for two players. One was consigned to Pekin and arrived in good condition. If this ratio should hold in a larger shipment it would prove so great a financial loss as to cause a discontinuance of further orders.

"The upper portion of the right side of the cover was split off entirely, and the middle section of the cover was broken in two pieces. The upright end support on the right-hand side was splintered, the cast-iron arms connecting the bellows and pedals were snapped off, all attachments which were held in place by small screws were torn loose, the small brass angles at the sides of the middle section which contains the music spindle were bent and broken loose, a piece was chipped out of the flange on the right-hand end of the roller, and the iron shaped casting was broken. This casting carries the shaft, which was badly bent, by which the roller is moved. Besides these injuries, the right-hand door was jammed back and caught upon some obstruction which dug into its surface, and the wooden guide to the hammers was broken into five or six pieces.

"This situation can be avoided in the future by removing the pedals and placing them in a separately constructed compartment nailed in some suitable place inside of the packing case. To prevent lateral motion of the mechanical parts two blocks of wood could be properly fitted snugly into the spaces between the casing and the upright supports to the cross pieces carrying the operating parts of the player.

Packing of Haberdashery.

"English underwear, haberdashery and miscellaneous articles of clothing are packed for shipment in boxes or cases of seven-eighths-inch stuff, having tin linings made to the exact inside measurement of the box. Inside of the tin lining heavy wrapping paper is placed, in which are packed the bundles of different articles. These articles are wrapped in attractive paper packages or in pasteboard boxes containing one-half dozen each of such articles as hosiery, gloves, etc. Each package is properly marked, giving clearly and plainly the number, size and name of the contents.

"Cases containing an assortment of different articles have the different kinds packed in boxes having distinctive color marking, as white, blue, green, black, red, denoting socks, stockings and underwear of different qualities, or they may be distinguished by being decorated with cheap but attractive lithographs. This facilitates the examination by the customs officials. An examination of one case of goods packed in this manner is sufficient to pass the entire shipment. When the case is packed by the exporter at the point of shipment, the top of the tin lining is securely soldered, so as to be water-tight. That this is a most necessary precaution in all shipments other than gray goods is evident upon examination of shipments of goods arriving daily with their battered and crushed cases. In many instances only the tin case is left intact upon arrival, and this is frequently so damaged as to expose the goods to the elements. The most careful packing is not always able to withstand the rough treatment given by the coolies who load and discharge the cargoes at these ports."

There Is, Indeed.

There is opportunity for a really small and select organization of New Yorkers who have neither contributed scandal to Town Topics nor figured in the publication of it.—Washington Post.

"MIGHT HAVE."

I have lived my life and I face my end—
But that other life I might have led.
Where lay the road, and who was its friend?
And what was the goal when the years were fled?

Where lay the road? Did I miss the turn?
The friend unknown? Our greetings unsaid?
And the goal unsought? Shall I never learn
What was that life I might have led?

As the spring's last look, for one dear day
From skies autumnal on earth may bend;
So lures me that other life—but nay!
I have lived my life and I face the end.

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

The veterans of Company A, Fourteenth regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, who served in the war with Spain, will hold a banquet on February 28 at one of the Pittsburgh hotels, the exact place to be selected later. The time set for the banquet is the seventh anniversary of the company's muster out, the entire regiment having been released from service on that date in 1899, at Summerville, S. C. The menu at the banquet will include several items peculiar to army fare. Veterans of the company are now scattered widely throughout the country, but it is expected to gather together some 60 or 70 of the original 109 for this reunion. The temporary officers are James C. Murray, Turtle Creek, president, and John C. King, 907 Wood street, Wilkinsburg, secretary. The secretary is anxious to receive their present address from all former members of the company.

Engage More Detectives.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has increased its detective force in the local freight yards 50 per cent during the past few days, and the same proportion of increase is to be carried out in the freight yards of the company at all terminals within the next few days. The Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie roads are said to be contemplating the same action. This extra precaution is said to have been made necessary because of the exceptionally heavy movement of freight, and because of the fact that car-breaking has become an epidemic within recent weeks.

The proposed change of management of Zion City seems to offer special inducement for further colonization. Last night a party of four men, three women and three children from Haverhill, Mass., stopped over in Union station en route to Dowie's Utopia. They were in charge of Richard Corwell, one of the "organizers" of the colony, who stated that the "ingathering has been especially large during the past few months." He declared that the financial condition of Zion City was excellent, and denied current rumors that the community had exhausted its credit.

Organizers are to be sent here to strengthen the membership.

The Clean Collar Test.

Some finical persons declare that a clean collar is the hall mark of respectability. Broader minds lean to the view that a man can soil his collar without losing his virtue. It is a matter of temperament, of means, and, as in the case of Pittsburghians, of geography. It is also a matter of occupation. A clerk in a quiet dry goods store may keep his neckwear unsullied from morning until night, while a stevedore, if he wore a collar, would probably within an hour after the whistle-blowing, be lost beyond redemption, according to the doctrine of the haberdashery purists.—Washington Star.

TEACHERS FAVOR ENLARGED CITY

How Annexation Brings Greatly Increased Salaries Solely Through Classification.

OTHER BENEFITS ENUMERATED

The benefit to teachers in nearby municipalities arising from annexation to Pittsburgh has recently been forcibly illustrated. This benefit is chiefly through increased salaries consequent upon annexation, but there are others, and it is said the proposed Greater Pittsburgh has many warm advocates among school principals and teachers in adjoining districts whose classification under the present city school regulations would entitle them to greatly increased compensation.

When Elliott borough was annexed to the city last year as the Thirty-ninth ward, or Westlake sub-school district, the salary of the principal of the borough schools jumped from $1,000 to $1,800, and the school term from nine to 10 months, solely by virtue of annexation, without a particle of legislation being required to put the same into effect. In the case of Esplen borough, which has more recently been admitted as the Fortieth ward, the salary of the principal advanced from $900 to $1,600, and the school term from nine to 10 months.

If Sterrett township, which has voted to join the city, becomes a separate city subschool district, the principal's salary, in order to harmonize with the dignity of such a district as contrasted with a rural community, will soar from $900 to $1,400. In all these recently annexed districts the salaries of many of the teachers as well as the principals were increased, while the people profit by increased school terms and closer supervision, together with other privileges, such as permission to send pupils to the city high schools free of charge, instead of paying $100 annual tuition for each pupil. Each annexed district that becomes a sub-district of Pittsburgh is entitled to one representative in the central board of education, which some facetious people say should be honor enough to bring any rustic ballwick within the cosmopolitan pale, to say nothing about the opportunities flowing from annexation for rural statesmen to shine in city councils.

Reorganization of School Districts.

Piecemeal annexation, as in the cases of Elliott and Esplen boroughs and Sterrett township, is not likely to be followed by any reorganization of the city school system as regards sub-districts, which will be inevitable when Greater Pittsburgh comes in a wholesale manner. In boroughs and townships which come in individually like Elliott and Esplen, teachers reap greater benefits than by waiting for wholesale annexation. School principals, for example, will be placed under the schedule of salaries now in force for principals in the city as follows: Less than six teachers, $1,400; six to 10 teachers, $1,600; 11 to 15 teachers, $1,800; 16 to 20, $2,000; 21 to 30, $2,200; 31 to 40, $2,300; 41 to 50, $2,400; above 50, $2,500.

Under this schedule, annexation would produce changes in the salaries of borough principals as follows: Avalon, $1,700 to $2,000; Bellevue, $1,800 to $2,000; Ben Avon, 1,200 to $1,400; North Braddock, $1,600 to $2,300; Carnegie, $2,000 to $2,300; Coraopolis, $1,200 to $2,000; Crafton, $1,500 to $2,000; East Pittsburgh, $1,350 to $1,800; Edgewood, $855 to $1,800; Edgeworth, $720 to $1,400; Etna, $1,600 to $1,800; Emsworth, $1,000 to $1,600; Glassport, $900 to $1,800; Glenfield, $810 to $1,400; Greentree, $630 to $1,500; Hays, $540 to $1,600; West Homestead, $900 to $1,600; Ingram, $900 to $1,600; Knoxville, $1,625 to $1,800; McKees Rocks, $2,000 to $2,200; Millvale, $1,377 to $2,000; Montooth, $675 to $1,400; Mt. Oliver, $850 to $1,600; Munhall, $2,000 to $2,200; Rankin, $1,500 to $2,200; Sharpsburg, $1,650 to $2,000; Swissvale, $1,800 to $2,300; Turtle Creek, $1,800 to $2,000; Wilmerding, $1,500 to $2,000; West Liberty, $1,000 to $1,600; Verona, $1,400 to $1,600; Oakmont, $1,500 to $1,800; Whitaker, $620 to $1,000.

Of course it would be idle for some of the boroughs to talk of annexation, on account of not being contiguous, until intervening territory is taken in. For example, Edgewood might want to join hands with Pittsburgh, but it is said that pretty suburb cannot do so unless Wilkinsburg first leads the way, and the latter says she positively never, never will. Some of the Edgewood people, however, remind the big intervening borough that once there was a maiden who, "protesting, she would ne'er consent, consented."

Beneficial to the Schools.

That annexation to Pittsburgh is beneficial in an educational way is said to have been clearly demonstrated in more ways than one, notably in the accession of Brushton, Beltzhoover and other districts. While some of the boroughs claim, probably with good reason, that they already have quite as good schools as the city, they have shorter school terms and their teachers usually are not as well paid. If all the boroughs in the county could be annexed on the same conditions as Brushton, Beltzhoover and Elliott, in only one out of 63 would the principal of the borough school suffer a decrease in salary under the city schedule, and this would be because the case is an exceptional one, where the principal's salary is out of all proportion to that of the teachers. In two cases there would be no change, while in the remainder the increase would range from 10 to 200 per cent, both extremes being exceptional, while the average increase would be very liberal indeed—so liberal, in fact, that every teacher, even though opposed to municipal annexation, would vote early and often for the speedy annexation of the inflated salary.

Five of the boroughs, namely, Braddock, Homestead, Sheraden, Tarentum and Wilkinsburg, have superintendents at the head of their schools instead of principals, which is a distinction with very little difference, except that superintendents are commissioned by the state and report to the school department at Harrisburg; but even these borough superintendents would receive higher salaries as Pittsburgh principals, except Wilkinsburg, which already pays the maximum. McKeesport pays less for a superintendent that it would receive under the present schedule as a sub-district of Pittsburgh.

Board Would Be Unwieldy.

If all Allegheny county were to form the Greater Pittsburgh and each of the existing school districts become a subdistrict of the greater city, there would be about 175 in all and a central board of as many members, which, it is said, no one in favor of annexation contemplates. It is explained that wholesale annexation would require a sane readjustment of subdistrict lines for the economical administration of school affairs, as well as for convenience. If all districts were to be maintained and principals' salaries arranged under the present schedule, the borough of Osborne with one teacher at $55 a month, would receive $1,400, while Wilkinsburg with 70 teachers, would get less than twice as much. Manifestly then, it is declared a recasting and a combination of districts would be required.

For example, the first five wards of Pittsburgh now have a combined school population much less than any one of the big residence districts like Hiland, Liberty, Oakland, Peebles and Minersville, and draw for principals' salaries an annual total of $8,000, while one of the big districts with more pupils and teachers, gets but $2,500. But some of the old downtown districts, which have been losing pupils only because the encroachments of trade have driven many of their patrons to the outlying wards, include the most famous schools of the city, with the best teachers, and any annexation or revision scheme that would interfere with their individuality, would hardly be looked upon with favor.

REFRIGERATOR RATES ARE GREATLY REDUCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 28.—As a result of three days' conference between J. S. NEW BELMAR CHRISTIAN CHURCH

CANCEL CHURCH DEBT DURING DEDICATION

More Than the Amount Needed Is Pledged for Belmar Christian House of Worship.

Facing a debt of $7,000 when the morning service in connection with the dedication of the Belmar Christian church, Race and Sterrett streets, was held yesterday, the congregation gave a remarkable instance of liberality by over-subscribing the fund by $3,000 before the conclusion of the afternoon service. Three subscriptions of $1,000 each were made, and the remainder was composed of smaller sums from members of the church and their friends.

The dedicatory exercises lasted practically all day, refreshments being served at noon and in the evening at the parsonage. In the morning communion was celebrated and the sermon was preached by the Rev. T. E. Cramblett, LL. D., president of Bethany college. A congratulatory meeting was held in the afternoon, at which speeches were made by the Rev. E. E. Manley, pastor of the church; Dr. Cramblett, the Rev. L. N. D. Wells of the Wilkinsburg Christian church, the Rev. W. S. Rounds of the Crafton Christian church, the Rev. J. C. Slater of the East End Christian church, the Rev. C. L. Thurgood of the Central Christian church, the Rev. W. R. Warner, editor of the Christian Worker; the Rev. Matthew Sewell of the Sumpster (S. C.) Christian church; the Rev. George W. Taft of the Homewood Baptist church, and the Rev. Charles R. Zahniser of the Third Cumberland Presbyterian church. Dr. Cramblett again officiated at the evening service.

The Belmar church sprang from a mission established by the East End Christian church in 1897. The mission was first located in Rowan avenue in the Lincoln avenue district. The congregation grew rapidly and was given a separate organization with Mr. Manley as pastor. Two years ago the ground at Race and Sterrett streets was purchased, and the erection of the church building was begun soon afterward. The church building, Sunday school room and the parsonage are all located on the plot, and cost, with their furnishings, about $25,000. The buildings are all of buff brick with stone trimmings and present a handsome appearance.

HEBREWS NOMINATE OWN TICKET IN SIXTH WARD

Want Members of Their Race Put in City Councils and on the School Board.

An organization of 250 Hebrews, formed last night in the hall of the Washington bank building under the title of the Good Government club, claims that the Sixth ward should be represented in the city councils and school board by members of their own race, his claim being based upon the assumption that 85 per cent of the population of the ward are Hebrews, and that they pay 60 per cent of the property taxes of the ward.

Dr. S. Philip Leiber was elected president, George H. Oppenheim vice president, Michael Rosenbaum secretary, and I. Alpern treasurer. The club voted to nominate a full ward ticket and the president was authorized to appoint a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws and a committee on campaign and finance.

George H. Oppenheim was nominated for common council and the president was authorized to name the balance of the ticket, including school directors, to be ratified at a future meeting.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Application will be made to the city council tomorrow night by the Chicago Central Subrailroad Company for a 50-year franchise for a 10-mile subway system for passenger traffic under Chicago's downtown streets. The company was organized in 1894 with a capital of $15,000,000, and a franchise was asked for at that time, but the council refused.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA DECREASES SLIGHTLY

This Is Ascribed to War During the Past Fiscal Year—Much Cotton Exported.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Trade of the United States with Russia, including the Asiatic part, during the fiscal year, 1905, as shown by the records of the bureau of statistics, department of commerce and labor, amounted to $28,800,000, of which $11,800,000 represented imports and $17,000,000 exports. These figures are somewhat lower than for the preceding year, when the total was in excess of $31,300,000, of which $11,900,000 were imports and $19,400,000 exports.

The shrinkage is due largely to the war and the unsettled condition of the country. These figures do not include the entire trade movement. Goods shipped from this country and ultimately to Russia and vice versa are often consigned to various ports of intermediate countries and transshipped, particularly raw cotton, the largest item of American exportation to Russia. The officially recorded imports of American cotton into Russia during the five-year period ending December 31, 1904, were 919,534,000 pounds, while our exports to that country during the five-year period ending June 30, 1904, are stated in official reports of the bureau of statistics to have been 266,006,000 pounds, or less than 30 per cent of the direct imports recorded by the Russian customs authorities.

Besides $19,500,000 worth of raw cotton credited to the United States, imports of cotton to the amount of $24,300,000 are credited to Great Britain, Germany, Denmark, Belgium, France, Sweden and Norway, all countries which do not produce cotton, but receive the greater part (about 75 per cent) of their supply from the United States.

Allowing for these additional figures, it is stated that a "conservative estimate of the total value of the commerce, both direct and indirect, would place the value at not less than $55,000,000 or $60,000,000, of which $45,000,000 to $50,000,000 represent the value of goods shipped to Russia from this country, and about $10,000,000 the value of goods shipped from Russia to the United States."

The principal imports into the United States from Russia are raw materials, principally raw wool and hides and skins, whose combined value constitutes nearly 50 per cent of the total imports credited to that country. The imports of sugar, which in 1901 were valued at $718,516, have ceased.

Besides other visitors, the meeting was attended by 100 delegates from Pittsburgh, Charleroi, Ambridge, Greensburg and Scottdale, almost all of the 70 societies being represented.

A. B. Floyd, first vice president, presided. Stirring addresses were made by the Rev. M. A. Lambing, Scottdale; the Rev. John Kubacki, Ambridge; Charles D. McShane and Prof. John R. McKavney and Stephen Madden, Pittsburgh; Rev. Father Meinrod, pastor of Sacred Heart church. The next monthly rally will be held in Braddock.

SAY PAYROLLS WERE PADDED.

Employes of Westinghouse Company at East Pittsburgh Are Under Arrest.

John Pindery, a timekeeper, and Davis Balentine, a machinist at the Westinghouse Electric works, East Pittsburgh, are in the county jail charged with padding the payroll.

Balentine worked a half day sometime ago and Pindery is said to have fixed his time as a full day and four hours extra. The amount the company lost was not large, but it is thought other incidents of the same nature might have taken place.

SAYS FINNEY HAS MADE BAD MESS

Bigelow Blames General Superintendent for Hold Up of Junction Ordinance.

ANOTHER TRIAL TONIGHT

A special effort will be made tonight in common council by the city administration and the Baltimore & Ohio railroad to put through the Pittsburgh Junction ordinance, which has been held up in that branch for a considerable time. General Superintendent Robert Finney of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad had a long conference on Saturday with Mayor Hays and Director Bigelow to frame a program for tonight's meeting of common council.

Director Bigelow remarked Saturday after the conference that "Finney had gotten the ordinance in bad shape in councils." A motion is expected tonight to suspend the rules to take up the Pittsburgh Junction ordinance. The ordinance was voted down on first reading, and to take it up again it will be necessary to suspend the rules.

Councilman A. G. Roenigk undertook at the last meeting to have the ordinance reconsidered, but the only support he got was from his own colleagues of the Twentieth ward. To pave the way for the passage of the bill many details will have to be adjusted with councilmen, as Director Bigelow remarks, "Finney has the ordinance in bad shape."

General Superintendent Finney's renewed activity in councils is due to the war department a few days ago granting permission to the company to rebuild its station on the Monongahela wharf, for which a franchise was obtained from councils two years ago. With the improvement of the terminal it is also the desire of the company to go ahead with the proposed changes in Junction hollow and Hazelwood, which are important parts of the extensive system of improvements which the company is preparing to begin at once in the Pittsburgh district.

Without the favorable action of councils nothing can be done with the Pittsburgh Junction plans. For reasons known to themselves the majority of the city fathers feel deeply resentful toward the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, and to overcome their resentment will be a big task for Superintendent Finney even though assisted by the city administration.

A regular meeting of select council is called for this afternoon, but there is nothing of importance for the body to consider, as the bills which are attracting public attention are all in the common branch. It is probable that a quorum of the upper branch will not be obtained.

NEW TRUNK TRICK SHOWN TO CHINESE

Of Over Hundred Pieces of Baggage Thief Picks Out One Containing Money.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Lee Chung Yee, one of the prominent members of the Imperial Chinese commission now studying government methods in Washington, has been introduced to a new trunk trick at a cost of $435.

When the commission arrived in San Francisco several hundred pieces of baggage was sent direct to Washington. Lee Chung Yee packed in a trunk the articles he would not need until reaching the national capital. In a coat he placed a pocketbook containing $435 in bills.

The trunk was duly shipped, arrived in Washington and was delivered at the Arlington hotel. The coat was all right but the money was gone. Then Lee Chung Yee observed that the trunk strap had been cut and the lock forced.

More than one hundred other trunks had been shipped at the same time, but none of them had been rifled.

Capt. Casto and Crew Return to Duty With Compliments Ringing in Their Ears.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Capt. Mark Casto and his crew proved themselves heroes of the sensible type. They were feted last night by the board of trade, and lauded in speeches, but that was past history to them when they woke this morning. They donned their old clothing and started out with the schooner Alberta to the wreck of the Cherokee.

They took from shore the crew of the wrecking tug and the men at work on the wreck. The wreck is slowly moving toward deep water. Capt. Casto intends to employ the money given him to secure a home in Pleasantville.

AN EVERY-DAY STRUGGLE.

Men and women of every occupation overtax the kidneys and suffer daily miseries when the kidneys begin to fail.

Any work that is a constant strain on the back is bound to hurt the kidneys. The lifting, digging and planting of farm work, the constant bending over a desk or sitting at a sewing machine, working for hours on jarring, jolting wagons or railroad trains; the stooped positions and the reaching, pulling and heavy lifting of a hundred different trades—all these are hard on the back and must wear, weaken and injure the kidneys, because the kidneys are in the very part of the back that feels the strain. When the kidneys are sick, every exertion sends a sharp, stinging pain through the back or loins, and you are weary and tired all the time.

Many tasks, like housework, that do not require great physical strength, are very trying on the back and kidneys. That is why backache is so common. That is why so many women are unnaturally weak and tired and sleepless.

Doan's Kidney Pills have cured thousands of working men and women—have given them strong backs for their daily work. Doan's Kidney Pills help the kidneys to do their duty—to eliminate the liquid poisons from the blood, and to send pure, health-giving blood to the muscles and organs. We would sincerely advise every man or woman whose work is hard on the back to take an occasional dose of Doan's Kidney Pills. It will keep the kidneys well and the back strong, and keeping the kidneys well is half the task of keeping the body well.

C. Bollens, of 12 Boyd st., Pittsburgh, Pa., says: "In 1897 I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills as follows: 'I suffered from pains in my back for quite a length of time, and was finally induced to use Doan's Kidney Pills. Before I had finished one box the pains which were caused by kidney troubles were removed. I take great pleasure in recommending your remedy.'"

"Every Picture Tells a Story."

EIGHT YEARS LATER.

Mr. Bollens confirmed the above statement by saying: "Doan's Kidney Pills are all right. They are the only thing that ever helped me for kidney complaint. A dose or two now and then never fails to prevent backache and lame back."

Note some lots for proof.

There are hundreds of other lots and items that are not advertised—that are just as much price sacrificed.

Come today if you want to get them.

Some lots are small and others there are more—and at the prices—the smaller lots will be sold out quick.

These are not marked down any less than they were a week ago—but there was a big lot of them—in the wholesale—and they're so good and so far below, they're worth letting the people know about—and we're telling you straight the situation—both as to the goods and the price.

With the above is a lot of 10-cent Twill Cretonnes, 31 inches wide—light floral patterns—that are not so good as the Tapestry lot, and they're 6½c.

Big table neat styles dark Dress Percales, 31 inches wide, 6½c.

Table 35 to 75-cent Black Goods—Lace Etamines, Bourette Striped effects, Storm Serges—all wool and part wool—mostly all wool ones, 42 inches wide, all 15c.

London Tailorings—a few pieces and part pieces, $2.50 and $3.00 ones—56 inches wide, $1.00—some of them rather striking in style and color combinations and others plaid effects, dark and quiet in tone.

Understand there are only a few pieces of these tailorings and they won't last long.

Two tables of odd pieces of Paris Voiles, Eoliennes, Crepes, Camel's Hair and all-wool Canvas Panama, that sold at $1.00 to $1.50 a yard at 50 and 75c.

$25.00 and $30.00 three-quarter length Covert Coats, $12.50.

FUTURE GUIDED BY PATERNALISM

This Feature Bristles in Every Proposal for Relief of Conditions in Philippines.

INDUCEMENTS TO CAPITAL

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.

Paternalism bristles in almost every proposal made for the relief of the Philippine islands. Back of all American capital to be invested in the islands is to be placed the guarantee of the United States for reimbursement in case the investment fails.

Every step taken is in the direction of Americanizing the islands. This Americanization is in the direction of permanent control rather than enabling the Filipinos to govern themselves. The hope of ultimate independence held out to the inhabitants is densely clouded by the fact that the more American capital is invested in the archipelago the more unlikely will the government at Washington be able to let go in the future.

It is not doubted here that many of the steps now being taken are dictated by every question of duty. The islands need help, and the United States is bound to give it.

The Philippine tariff bill, which lets in free everything except sugar and tobacco, and reduces on these products the Dingley duties to 25 per cent, is only one of the steps. This, when figured out, makes a tremendous subsidy to the Filipinos. Senator Newlands of Nevada figures that the tariff concession alone will in 20 years amount to between $20,000,000 and $000,000,000.

The United States has guaranteed 4 per cent interest on 95 per cent of the various systems of railroads about to be constructed in the islands. This involves an obligation of about $10,000,000.

A strong effort is being made to have the United States establish subsidies for lines of steamships between America and the islands, whether the Gallinger ship subsidy bill fails or not.

In addition to this a paternal scheme is pending in congress for the creation of an "agricultural bank," which, with a capital of $5,000,000 to start with, shall loan at 4 per cent to the natives such money as they need, taking their lands or their crops as security. This is a sort of farmers' alliance scheme, similar to those which were so strongly favored by the Populists a few years ago.

Further than this, in order to tempt American capital to the islands, the amount of land which one individual or corporation may hold is to be raised from 2,500 acres to 25,000 acres.

Thus, with free trade for Philippine products with subsidized steamships, with subsidized railroads and almost no limit to the ownership of land, it is believed American capital will pour into the archipelago.

HONOR THE NEPHEW OF THE OLD WAR GOVERNOR

Gen. John I. Curtin Is Given Unanimous Nomination for Burgess by Both Parties.

BELLEFONTE, PA., Jan. 28.—At last night's primaries the Republicans unanimously nominated Gen. John I. Curtin for burgess, and in consideration of the fact that he is a nephew of the old war governor, Andrew G. Curtin, and that the Centre county soldiers' monument and the Curtin memorial are to be dificated this year, the Democrats did not make a nomination against him. The other nominees are: Treasurer, W. B. Rankin; tax collector, W. C. Cassidy. The Democratic nominees are: Treasurer, James K. Barnhart; tax collector, J. Kennedy Johnson.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The official count of the vote cast at the primaries here yesterday shows an unusually close fight. Among the Republicans the most heated contest was for justice of the peace, James A. Magill winning out over James P. Brownlee by seven votes. In the Democratic ranks the principal contest was for tax collector, F. H. Judson winning over George Becker by a small margin. The Democrats left many offices unfilled. The Republicans nominated the following: Burgess, C. A. Marsh; treasurer, R. W. Mason; tax collector, C. M. Brownlee. The Democratic nominations are: Burgess, W. W. Hoyt; treasurer, Robert Doyle; tax collector, F. H. Judson.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—In the hottest political fight ever waged in the borough John E. Shields won the Republican nomination for tax collector yesterday, leading his closest opponent, L. N. Wilson, by nine votes. The other nominees are: Burgess, R. E. Henderson; justice of the peace, M. J. McGeary.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—At the Republican primaries last night the following ticket was nominated: Burgess, J. B. Kurtz; tax collector, G. B. Freed; auditors, J. D. Lambert and E. N. Stahl. The Democrats named this ticket: Burgess, A. D. Soisson; tax collector, G. B. Brown; auditors, B. J. Thomas and J. B. Stader.

MEYERSDALE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The Republican primaries held here yesterday resulted as follows: Burgess, Charles A. Bolden; justice of the peace, Arthur O. Lorentz.

SOMERST, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—At yesterday's Republican primaries the following ticket was named: Burgess, William H. Lefley; justice of the peace, W. W. Knable.

MUST COLONIZE NEGRO OR FIGHT FOR EXISTENCE

This View Taken by Thomas Dixon, Jr., Stirs Up Hornet's Nest in New York Baptist Meeting—Police Called In

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—That the negro must be removed from the United States, or that in fewer than fifty years we will have to fight for existence and the preservation of the white home, was the leading point made by Thomas Dixon, Jr., at a meeting today in the Baptist church of the Epiphany, Madison avenue and Sixty-fourth street, to discuss the subject, "What Shall We Do With the Negro?"

There was considerable excitement, the cheering of the negro sympathizers being answered by cries from a body of southerners. Toward the end of the meeting it was necessary to call in two policemen, the Rev. Madison C. Peters, pastor of the church, instructing them to arrest the next man who interrupted the proceedings.

Considerable feeling was shown by the negro ministers who endeavored to refute the statements of Mr. Dixon, and there were cries of "Shame!" during his remarks.

"There is only one solution of the negro problem by which a race war within this century can be avoided, and that is by a peaceful and friendly colonization of the African," said Mr. Dixon. "This has never been seriously tried. President Lincoln would have accomplished the task had he lived out his years. The man who freed the negro was at the time of his death preparing a plan for removing him from this country.

"I admire Booker T. Washington. He is the shrewdest negro that ever passed the hat among the millionaires of New York, and I take off my hat to him for that.

"Today the negro is four thousand years behind the white race and he will always be so. For that space of time he occupied one of the richest and most fertile countries in the world, and he never improved it in any way; never dug up any of the minerals; never built a ship or a house, or even constructed a cart until the white man showed him how.

"We must remove the negro or we will have to fight him. He will not continue to submit to the injustice with which we treat him in north and the south. The negro makes a magnificent fighting animal. When he smashes into your drawing room some day in the future with a repeating rifle in his hand you will make good on your protestations of absolute equality or he will know the reason why."

MUST TAKE TESTIMONY.

Attorneys for Government and Packers Fail to Reach Agreement on Facts in the Case.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—That the question of the indicted packers' immunity from prosecution must be tried on the facts, became a practical certainty today, when the last effort of the opposing attorneys to reach an agreement by which the matter might be expedited failed. The hearing that now becomes necessary will involve the taking of a large volume of testimony, and will last for perhaps three weeks.

District Attorney Morrison and Attorney John R. Wilson each waited in vain for the other to make a move today. The trial on the immunity pleas has been set for tomorrow. As the case now stands the packers will introduce testimony to substantiate their assertion that Mr. Garfield's investigation clothes the packers with immunity from criminal prosecution, inasmuch as they were compelled, they say, to produce evidence against themselves.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR WILL ENTERTAIN

Nine Commanderies Combine Their Strength to Make It a Great Success.

DUQUESNE GARDEN THE SCENE

Nine commanderies of Knights Templar, composing the second division of the order in Pennsylvania, will give one of the most elaborate entertainments ever attempted in Pittsburgh. It will be held in Duquesne garden on Tuesday evening, April 17, and nothing that experience, ingenuity and lavish expenditure can suggest or procure will be omitted to make the affair a success. The commanderies interested represent Allegheny, Beaver and Washington counties, with a combined membership of 4,000 men. They are: Pittsburgh No. 1, of Pittsburgh; Jacques De Molay No. 3, of Washington; Allegheny No. 35, of Allegheny; Tancred No. 42, of Pittsburgh; Ascalon No. 59, of Pittsburgh; Duquesne No. 72, of Pittsburgh; Chartiers No. 78, of Carnegie; McKean No. 80, of Charleroi, and Beaver Valley No. 84, of Beaver Falls.

The guests will be limited to the Masonic fraternity, the invitations going only to members of the commanderies, Master Masons and minor sons of the latter.

The entire garden will be used on this occasion. The skating surface will be covered with a dancing floor and a promenade will be constructed around this. Ladies' dressing rooms and lounging rooms will be arranged, smoking rooms will be provided for the men and a system of cloak rooms will be installed that will do away with trouble that has been a source of annoyance at some larger affairs in Pittsburgh lately. The second floor will be fitted up as a dining room and elaborate refreshments will be served. The building will be cleaned and decorated in a manner that will give it a new appearance.

To Open With a Concert.

At 8 o'clock an hour's concert of reception music will begin, a noted orchestra and a brass band playing alternately. At 9 o'clock the ball will be opened with a grand march, headed by the officers of the grand commandery of Pennsylvania and the eminent commanders of the second division and their ladies. After that dancing will be the order of the evening. At convenient periods in the course of the night one or more of the commanderies will give an exhibition drill in full Templar uniform.

The arrangements are in charge of an executive committee, consisting of Herman Junker of Pittsburgh Commandery, chairman; Theodore A. Motheral, of Allegheny Commandery, treasurer; James Little, of Tancred Commandery, secretary; John W. McNulty, of Jacques De Molay Commandery, Fred C. Schatz, of Ascalon Commandery; Thomas B. Moreland, of Duquesne Commandery; Harry M. Thompson, of Chartiers Commandery; Thomas R. Eagge, of McKean Commandery, and John A. Elliott, of Beaver Valley Commandery. PRANK ENDS IN DEATH FOR MESSENGER BOY

George Sellhorst Falls from Bridge to Railroad Tracks and Skull Is Crushed.

Because he would not accept a dare, young George Sellhorst of 154 McClure avenue, Allegheny, fell to his death yesterday afternoon, from the temporary bridge across the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at North and Irwin avenue, Allegheny. He was a messenger for the Western Union Telegraph Company and with a companion, Lawrence Dailey of 613 West Jefferson street, was returning from delivering a message.

In a spirit of banter young Sellhorst started to walk across the bridge on a girder. Just after calling to his companion that "he was not afraid," he stepped on a loose board and was thrown headlong to the tracks below. The heavy plank fell upon him, crushing his skull and injuring him internally. He died within two hours after being removed to the Allegheny General hospital.

Two other accidents, both due to falls, occurred at McKeesport, yesterday, and one may prove fatal. Robert W. Clark, aged 57, of Grandview avenue, fell from the porch of his home, striking his head on the stone walk and fracturing his skull. He was not found for several hours.

By a fall of 35 feet from a scaffold at the National tube works, Thomas Henry, aged 21, of North Braddock, had his right arm, left leg and collar bone broken. He was taken to the McKeesport hospital.

CHOIR AND ORCHESTRA RENDER FINE PROGRAM

Oratorio of St. Cecilia Is Given in Sharpsburg for First Time in This Country.

St. Mary's auditorium, Sharpsburg, was crowded to its capacity last night with an audience of music lovers who listened for over two hours to the first rendition in this country of the oratorio of St. Cecilia, and an exceptionally well selected program by members of the Pittsburgh orchestra. The big hall was decorated with palms and tropical plants and on the stage, which was draped in red and white, the St. Mary's choir of 65 voices was seated before a background of red curtains, in the center of which was the large gold frame in which the characters of the five living tableaux, which illustrate the oratorio, were passed. The concert opened with the overture "Semiramis," by G. Rossini, and the numbers that followed were all popular classical compositions.

The second part of the program consisted of the Oratorio of St. Cecilia, sung by the St. Mary's choir. The soloists were: Soprano, Miss Clara Huhn, who sang the part of St. Cecilia; tenor, Henry J. Hohman, who sang the part of Valerian; baritone, Casper C. Niesen, who took the part of Pope Urban.

The eleven musical numbers were well sung and the chorus work reflected great credit upon J. Clemens Glomb, the director of the production.

Catholic Federation Meets.

The Allegheny County Catholic federation met in the Holy Ghost college, on Bluff street, last night. Reports of the officers were read. There was an increase of seven societies during the fiscal year and applications have been received from 12 more. The following officers were elected: F. W. Innekus, president; J. I. Brown, vice president, and P. J. Devlin, secretary. The next meeting of the federation will be held Sunday, March 25. The executive council will hold a meeting on February 8 next.

It would be hard to say whether the detective himself or his thrilling adventures are the more fascinating.

NAVAL CONDITIONS ARE EXCITING UNEASINESS

Prominent Men in Congress Believe Hazing Investigation Is Going Too Far at Time Government Needs Experienced Men in Service.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Conditions in the United States navy are now a subject of concern to many officials and other persons who have the efficiency and welfare of the service at heart.

The navy has had liberal treatment from congress since the war with Spain. The annual budget is now, and promises to remain, about $100,000,000. A succession of unfortunate circumstances, including the Bennington disaster, the grounding of battleships in New York harbor and the disclosures of hazing practices in the Naval academy, has caused some public men, notably in congress, to question their own previous confidence in the navy. Indications are not lacking that the navy is now in a critical position as regards its popularity and prestige.

So far as senators and members of congress are concerned the question of punishing hazing in Annapolis is the most serious thing at hand. The fear is expressed that the present investigation, if pursued to the end, will result in the dismissal of 50 or perhaps 100 upper classmen, each one of whom represents a large investment by the government, and each one of whom is needed in the naval service if he can properly qualify himself for a commission.

In the house naval affairs committee there is a disposition to think hazing has been "winked at," and the real cure is to be obtained through courtmartial of the officers who have been remiss in their duty of enforcing the regulations against hazing.

Secretary Bonaparte has been doing his best, he told the committee, to put an end to the practice, and Rear Admiral Sands declared the discipline was unexcelled. Mr. Bonaparte thought the courtmartials now in progress would reach about a dozen ringleaders immediately. Rear Admiral Sands told the committee it was by no means certain these courtmartials would reach the worst offenders.

Never was the navy so threatened with a shortage in officers as at present, and the matter appears a menace to thinking officers.

SPECULATIVE QUESTIONS GOVERN STOCK MARKET

Enormous Activity All Along the Line Characterized Trading During Past Week—Personal Features Attended Practically the Whole Movement.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Enormous activity, most unequally apportioned throughout the general list, and pronounced irregularity, characterized the stock market last week. Price fluctuations in the leading issues covered an extensive range. There were other evidences that denoted a changing market, in which a wide divergence of opinion prevailed. The market, in other words, developed a more two-sided character, at least so far as forceful interests were concerned, than for some time past. This is not in itself necessarily an element of weakness, but may serve as a sustaining force. It is a good thing to have two sides fairly well balanced in a speculative market, and particularly so when prices are high.

Of news developments there was very little of an important or influential character, and Wall street gave itself over more to a consideration of the technical speculative position than to anything else. Many of the movements were explained solely upon the position taken by this or that conspicuous operator to the reported extensive sales of a "Pittsburgh magnate," of a Chicago speculator," or the equally heavy purchases by other persons, generally embellished with oriental tales of the huge winnings that have been gleaned up by the fortunate individuals.

Bad News for Speculators.

For some reason or other the average speculator does not like to hear that some of the big men whose reported operations, genuine or otherwise, he has been following have disposed of their holdings. One would imagine that the "great interests" were expected to always buy and never sell securities. Why this opinion should prevail to such a degree is one of the mysteries of speculative markets, the very basis of which is the known intention of the buyer to resell at a higher price for a profit if things go his way. There surely ought to be no ignorance of this fact in the mind of any one, and certainly not since that famous episode in the shipbuilding company, in which the bankers instructed the manipulator to "sell our stocks first."

It is not the selling, but the causes which impel men to sell with which Wall street is, or should be, concerned. That there was extensive liquidation in the market was self-evident enough, and that with it there was extensive professional selling for the short account cannot be questioned. The latter provides a sustaining force, and is in the character of an insurance against violent and extensive collapses.

Bulls Are Raging.

Wall street bulls rage fearfully against bear operations, denouncing as a rule those who sell what they do not own from the housetops, and attribute to them all the crimes in the category, all the evils that follow in the train of the bursting of a speculative bubble.

It is a very short-sighted view to take of a speculative market, that of seeking to eliminate entirely the operation for the short account. The penalties attendant upon short selling, if the venture goes wrong, are well known. As a rule it is only the most acute and daring of speculators who engage in these risks; they suffer severely at times, and upon occasions they prove an obstacle in the way of some one's plans or schemes. But for all that, if their operations are conducted along legitimate lines, unattended by manufactured disasters, lying tales and unprincipled maneuvers, they serve a good purpose, either in checking unjustifiable advances or in steadying a market on its declines.

When it comes to the illegitimate features of speculative markets, even these bears have no monopoly. The lying tales upon which at times stocks are advanced are fully as reprehensible as those circulated to influence declines.

Reprehensible Methods.

In fact, if there was any way of determining the matter at all, the chances are that vastly more persons have lost money and suffered disaster through misrepresentation and deception, practiced in booming and bulling stocks either of worthless corporations or even of good corporations, when shares have been raised to extravagant prices, than from those that are attendant upon the bear operations. The latter, for instance, are seen quickly, detected and more easily exposed than the others.

Then it is well known that corporation managers are quick to deny any adverse report, even at times taking great liberties with the truth and the facts in doing so. Rarely do they rush into print to deny a wild, bullish report, or an extravagant rumor that may enhance the price of shares, or deceive persons into buying them at absurdly high prices.

In the absence of any very important influencing news developments it would appear that the stock market last week was governed entirely by speculative considerations and the technical market position. Of course, if there should develop some real ground for the selling movement in an unfavorable factor not yet disclosed, there would be a different story to tell. As it is, however, there was certainly nothing in the industrial, commercial or financial situation of a character to cause any especial alarm at this time.

DULL MARKET IN PARIS.

Algeciras Conference and Russian Conditions Detracted from Hopefulness of Affairs on French Bourse.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—Dullness prevailed in all sections of the bourse last week, Algeciras being the dominant cause of the hesitation. The report on the Russian 1906 budget caused a setback. Russian bonds being at higher discount rates in St. Petersburg, together with the difficulty met in placing Russian 6½ per cent bills and the cold reception accorded to the news that the kaiser promises to obtain a 400,000,000 rouble loan in Germany have all exerted an unfavorable influence on this department.

Copper shares regained their firmness, and the market was generally more optimistic at the week end. Developments in the Japanese financial situation are being watched here with much interest.

INQUIRY INTO HONEST TRUST BRINGS DEATH

CHESHIRE, MASS., Jan. 28.—Despondency and anxiety are believed to have been the cause of the suicide today of Fred C. Brown, town treasurer for 10 years. The death of his wife and recent investigation of his accounts, which showed them to be correct, although $8,500 was in his house and the balance was in the bank at Adams, depressed him. Mr. Brown was found dead at his home today with bottles of morphine and chloroform by his side.

Assessors' Vision Is Defective.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—According to the views of the assessors there are only two dogs in the Third ward, which has a population of 5,000. The county commissioners will probably order the assessors to take another look. Scores of them are seen playing about the streets, but as the tax ranges from $1 to $3 annually the memories of their owners sometimes fail when the tax assessors appears.

QUIET TRADE CLOSES AN EVENTFUL WEEK

Fancy Spring Patent Flour Reduced 5 Cents at Saturday's Close—Other Changes.

Rather quiet trade marked the close of the week in the produce lines. There was no strong demand for any one article, and the general market was considered weak. The week was a peculiar one in many ways. Perhaps the egg market attracted the greatest attention as far as the merchants are concerned. The market reached such a state that it is claimed millions of dollars were lost by the poultry and egg men throughout the country.

There has been an effort for some time to dispose of large amounts of storage eggs, and this, coupled with the mild weather, which caused the hens to lay, were the two things which resulted in the merchants losing money. The heavy receipts of fresh eggs caused prices to go down and there was absolutely no market for the storage goods. The market remained weak at the close on Saturday and not much hope is expressed for it reaching a firm basis during the present week.

The light receipts of strictly fresh creamery butter continued all week with a good demand. Imitation creamery brands were hard to dispose of. The cheese market continues about the same with little change. Receipts are heavy for this time of year, but there is a good demand and all arrivals are readily disposed of.

Apples remained firm Saturday and the goods which showed fine quality easily brought prices higher than the outside quotation.

The only change reported in the grocery line on Saturday was the reduction in the price of fancy spring Minnesota flour, which dropped 5 cents.

HAY AND GRAIN.
Receipts.

Receipts bulletined Saturday were: Pennsylvania, 23 cars hay, 16 cars corn, 13 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 1 car straw. Baltimore & Ohio, 3 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car hay, 2 cars corn, 2 cars oats, 1 car rye.

While not many reductions were made in prices on Saturday the market continues weak. Receipts have been heavy and trade dull. It is thought receipts will fall off some and this should make a firmer feeling here, but until a better demand is noted the market will remain inactive.

Philadelphia Company's Well Draws Attention to Southwest

Interest in developments in the lower southwest fields has been increasing for some weeks. The least indication of the possible discovery of new producing territory puts the talent on edge and causes it to take notice. The well that has attracted the most attention for the past two weeks is the Philadelphia company's fourth sand producer on the William N. Teagarden farm, located on Long Drain run, in Church district, Wetzel county. When the pay was tapped in this well two weeks ago it started to flow at a lively rate and had the indications of a gusher. Drilling was suspended to erect tankage and await pipe line connections. After both had been completed the well was drilled a little deeper, but it did not respond with the vigor expected, and it is now credited with being a natural producer good for about 50 barrels a day. In these days of small pumpers and many dusters, a 50 barrel producer is of some importance, if located in new territory or finds its production in a lower producing formation. The holders of leases in the vicinity of the Teagarden farm are getting ready to start some new work, and it is possible that a new fourth sand pool may be developed. Previous to drilling in this well the territory was operated for gas. The Teagarden well, when first drilled into the fourth sand some months ago, was a strong gasser. The oil came into the well in such volume as to crowd back the gas, and it was then decided to drill it deeper.

Fourth sand territory is expensive to operate, and even though the chances are favorable for wells above the average, the rank and file will not take an active part in the development of the territory. The gas companies are the principal holders of territory in the vicinity of the Teagarden farm, and should the opening of a new pool follow it will be the first oil discovery of any consequence that the gas companies have made in the past two years.

In all other deep sand districts the new completions were extremely light producers. In the Gordon and fifth sand territory, in Harrison county, eight wells were completed and the best is not good for more than 15 or 20 barrels a day. Wells of that calibre, owing to the cost, will be a long time in paying back the money invested. In Wetzel county there is some new work starting. The South Penn company is beginning to develop the interior of the Genine Robinson tract, and the Kanawha Oil company is starting some new work on the John Mills tract. This company has already completed tie wells on the Mills tract, and has locations for many more. On Fallen Timber run, in the same county, there is considerable undeveloped territory. During the week the Parker & Edwards Oil Company completed another good producer on the D. B. Ice farm. This company holds considerable undeveloped territory in the Fallen Timber Run district.

Ritchie county is now attracting more attention than any of the shallow sand districts. Enough test work has been completed to give assurance of the ultimate development of a considerable area of salt sand territory. During the week the Wathen Oil Company completed a test on the J. F. Lowther farm, located on Goose creek, that is estimated to be good for 25 barrels a day. The location of this well is nearly a mile from any previous producing wells and on a line with the Chancellor, Templeton and Campbell farm producers. On Bonds creek, in the same district, the South Penn Company got a good producer when it drilled in its No. 5 on the Morgan-Hemsworth farm. This is a Keener sand producer and is holding up at 40 barrels a day. Southwest of the Berea grit development, on Rowells run, in Calhoun county, the Carter Oil Company drilled in a wildcat on the Stennett Bee farm, and got a producer good for 100 barrels a day. The location is more than a mile in advance of developments, and opens up a new stretch of territory that will receive immediate attention. In the older part of the Yellow Creek district the three good producers drilled in two weeks ago etched rapidly, and none at this time is producing 100 barrels or more a day. To the southwest, along the Little Kanawha river, there is a little test work starting. Taken as a whole, the southwest extension has not come up to what was expected of it.

The Berea grit pool, near Woodsfield, in Monroe county, on the Ohio side, is by far the most interesting development. The average size of the wells in this district is many times larger than in any other in Southwestern Ohio. The best producers have an initial production of 250 barrels a day. The staying qualities of the wells in this district is commendable. The producing sand is 28 feet in thickness, and there are three distinct pays. Some of the wells are now more than three months old and are still producing from 65 to 75 barrels a day. The Carter Oil Company, W. C. McBride, the Central Gas Company, the Fisher Oil Company and the Pure Oil Company are the leading developers of the Woodsfield district. The last named company now has a production of more than 1,000 barrels a day in the district. The very shallow sand districts in Washington, Noble and Morgan counties are completing a large number of wells, but the best are light pumpers and many fail to the long list of dusters. At Belle Valley, Noble county, a discovery of some importance was made by the development of a 20-barrel producer in the Berea grit formation. This is a new feature for that locality and may lead up to the development of a Berea grit pool. South of Akron another producer has been completed, making the second in that locality. Three are dusters and the last is good for 30 barrels a day.

WHEAT CLOSES WEAK IN CHICAGO MARKET

Corn and Oats Also Show a Loss While Provisions Advanced, Foreign Influence.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Sentiment in the wheat pit was extremely bearish for the entire day and local traders and leading longs sold heavily. Initial quotations of May were ½c to ¾c off. According to the report of the English statistician, the world's shipments for the week will be about 9,600,000 bushels, which is more than generally expected. The same authority predicted a moderate increase in British breadstuffs in passage. This, coupled with the announcement that the exports from Australia were 1,704,000 bushels for the week, against 1,340,000 bushels for the corresponding period of one year ago, discouraged holders and weakened the market materially. The domestic situation also favors the bears. In the northwest stocks of wheat continued to show decided increase, and the weather over the winter wheat belt was mild. Prices declined steadily until May reached 84½c, which point was touched within the last half hour. Covering by shorts caused a slight rally within the last few minutes of trading, but the close was weak, with May at 84⅞c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 300,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 496,000 bushels, against 483,000 bushels one year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 305 cars, against 454 cars last week and 281 cars one year ago.

Because of selling by commission houses and cash interests and weakness of wheat the corn market was depressed throughout the day. Cash demand was slow and primary receipts were considerably in excess of those of the corresponding day one year ago. The market closed weak and almost at the lowest point of the day. May opened unchanged to a shade lower at 44⅜@44⅝c, sold off to 44c, and closed at 44¼c. Local receipts were 276 cars, with 29 cars of contract grade. Profit-taking by several longs and short selling by local traders, together with increasing receipts and a decline in export demand, weakened the oats market through the greater part of the day. The volume of trading was large. May opened unchanged to the ⅛c lower at 31⅜c to 31¼c, sold off to 30½c and closed at 30⅝c. Local receipts were 152 cars.

Provisions were firm on a 5c advance in the price of live hogs and excellent cash demand for meat and lard. Holders were confident and offerings were light. At the close May pork was up 2½c at $14 05@14 07½. Estimated receipts for Monday: Wheat, 26 cars; corn, 268 cars; oats, 201 cars; hogs, 54,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by Messrs. Armstrong & Co., Farmers Bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

There were 143 prisoners at Central station yesterday morning, a larger number than any day for many months. A total of 68 were discharged. Fifteen men found playing poker in the rear of 1223 Wylie avenue, were fined $15 and costs each. Patrick McLaughlin, known as "Hair Cut," and William Weymer, were fined $25 and costs each as suspicious persons. It was alleged they were trying to rob a man on Ferry street.

LONDON LOOKS FOR REVIVAL IN MARKET

Elections Over, It Is Believed That People Will

IN PERIL OF HIS LIFE

BY EMILE GABORIAU

Author of "THE MYSTERY OF ORCIVAL," "FILE NO. 113," Etc.

He became animated again. Professional habits stronger than everything else obtained once more the mastery. "M. de Boiscoran was at Valpinson tonight; that is clearly established. Well, how did he get there? By concealing himself. Between his own house and Valpinson there are two public roads—one by Brechy, and another around the swamps. Does M. de Boiscoran take either of the two? No. He cuts straight across the marshes, at the risk of sinking in, or of getting wet from head to foot. On his return he chooses, in spite of the darkness, the forest of Rochepommier, unmindful of the risk he runs of losing his way, and of wandering about till daybreak. What was he doing this for? Evidently, in order not to be seen. And, in fact, whom does he meet?—a loose fellow, Ribot, who is himself in hiding on account of some love intrigue; a wood-stealer, Gaudry, whose only anxiety is to avoid the gendarmes; an old woman, finally Madame Courtois, who has been belated by an accident. All his precautions were well chosen; but Providence was watching."

"O Providence!" growled Dr. Seignebos, —"Providence!"

M. Galpin-Daveline did not even hear the interruption. Speaking faster and faster, he continued, "Would it at least be possible to plead on M. de Boiscoran's behalf a difference in time? No. At what time was he seen coming in this direction? At nightfall. 'It was half past eight,' says Ribot, 'when M. de Boiscoran crossed the canal at the Seille swamps.' He might, therefore, have easily reached Valpinson at half past nine. At that hour the crime had not yet been committed. When was he seen returning home? Gaudry and the woman Courtois have told you the hour—after 11 o'clock. At that time the Count de Claudieuse had been shot and Valpinson was on fire. Do we know anything of M. de Boiscoran's temper at that time? Yes, we do. When he came this way he was quite cool. He was very much surprised at meeting Ribot; but he explains to him very fully how he happens to be going that way, and also why he has a gun. He says he is on his way to meet somebody at Brechy, and he thought he would shoot some waterfowl. Is that admissible? Is it even likely? However, let us look at him on his way back. Gaudry says he was walking very fast; he seemed to be furious and was pulling handfuls of leaves from the branches. What does Madame Courtois say? Nothing. When she calls him, he does not venture to run; that would have been a confession, but he is in a great hurry to help her. And then? His way for a quarter of an hour is the same as the woman's; does he keep her company? No. He leaves her hastily. He goes ahead, and hurries home; for he thinks the Count de Claudieuse is dead; he knows Valpinson is in flames; and he fears he will hear the bells ring and see the fire raging."

M. Galpin-Daveline had evidently been carried away by the rapidity of events. Since the first question addressed to Cocoleu, up to the present moment, he had not had time to consider. His proceedings had, moreover been public, hence he naturally felt tempted to cast aside his habitual magisterial reserve and to explain his line of conduct.

"And you call this a legal inquiry?" asked Dr. Seignebos, who had taken off his spectacles and was wiping them furiously. "An inquiry founded upon what?" he went on with such vehemence that no one dared interrupt him—"founded upon the evidence of an unfortunate creature whom I, a physician, testify to be not responsible for what he says. Reason does not go out and become lighted again, like the gas in a street-lamp. A man is an idiot, or he is not an idiot. He has always been one, and he always will be one. But you say the other statements are conclusive. Say, rather, that you think they are. Why? Because you are prejudiced by Cocoleu's accusation. But for it, you would never have troubled yourselves about what M. de Boiscoran did or about what he didn't do. He walked about the whole evening. He has a right to do so. He crossed the marshes. He went through the woods. Why shouldn't he? People meet him. Is not that quite natural? But no; an idiot accuses him, and forthwith all he does looks suspicious. He talks. It is the indolence of a hardened criminal. He is silent. It is the remorse of a guilty man, trembling with fear. Instead of naming M. de Boiscoran, Cocoleu might just as well have named me, Dr. Seignebos. At once all my doings would have appeared suspicious; and I am quite sure a thousand evidences of my guilt would have been discovered. It would have been an easy matter. Are not my opinions more radical even than those of M. de Boiscoran? For there is the key to the whole matter. M. de Boiscoran is a Republican; M. de Boiscoran acknowledges no sovereignty but that of the people—"

"Doctor," broke in the public prosecutor, "you speak without reflection."

"I don't, I assure you—"

But he was once more interrupted, and this time by the Count de Claudieuse, who remarked, "For my part, I admit all the arguments brought forward by the magistrate. But above all probabilities I place a fact—the character of the accused. M. de Boiscoran is a man of honor. He is incapable of committing such a mean and odious crime."

The others assented. M. Seneschal adding, "And I, I will tell you another thing. What could be the purpose of such a crime? Ah! if M. de Boiscoran had nothing to lose! But do you know among your friends a happier man than he is?—young, handsome, in excellent health, immensely wealthy, esteemed and popular with everybody. Finally, there is another fact, which is still a family secret, but which I may tell you, and which will remove at once all suspicions—M. de Boiscoran is desperately in love with Mademoiselle Denise de Chandore. She returns his love; and only the day before yesterday the wedding was fixed for the 20th of next month.

In the meantime the hours had sped on. Half past four struck at the clock of Brechy church. Day was breaking; and the light of the lamps grew pale. At last the morning mists evaporated, and an early sun-ray fell upon the window panes. But no one noticed it; all these men gathered around the bed of the wounded man were too deeply excited. M. Galpin-Daveline had listened to the objections made by the others, without a word or a gesture. He had so far recovered his self-control, that it was difficult to see what impressions they had made upon his mind. At last, shaking his head gravely, he said:

"More than you, gentlemen, I feel a desire to believe M. de Boiscoran innocent. M. Daubigeon, who knows what I mean, will tell you so. In my heart I pleaded his cause. But I am the representative of the law and my duty is above my affections. Does it depend on me to set aside Cocoleu's accusation, however stupid, however absurd, it may be? Can I undo the three statements made by the witnesses, and confirming so strongly the suspicions aroused by the first charge?"

The Count de Claudieuse seemed distressed beyond expression. At last he said, "The worst thing about it is that M. de Boiscoran thinks I am his enemy. I should not wonder if he went and imagined that these charges and vile suspicions have been suggested by my wife or by myself. If I could only get up! At least let M. de Boiscoran know distinctly that I am ready to answer for him, as I would answer for myself. Cocoleu, the wretched idiot! Ah, Genevieve, my darling wife! why did you induce him to talk? If you had not insisted, he would have kept silent forever."

The countess was giving way at last to the anxieties of this terrible night. At first she had been supported by that exaltation which is apt to follow a great crisis; but now prostration had come in its turn. She had sunk upon a stool, near the bed on which her two daughters were lying; and, her head hid in the pillow, she seemed to sleep. But she was not slumbering. When her husband reproached her thus, she rose, pale, with swollen eyes and distorted features, and cried in a piercing voice, "What! They have tried to kill my Trivulce; our children have been near unto death in the flames; and I should have allowed any means to be unused by which the guilty one might be found out? No! I have only done what it was my duty to do. Whatever may come of it, I regret nothing."

"But, Genevieve, M. de Boiscoran is not guilty; he cannot possibly be guilty. How could a man who has the happiness of being loved by Denise de Chandore, whose wedding day is so nigh—how could he devise such a hideous crime?"

"Let him prove his innocence," replied the countess, mercilessly.

The doctor pouted in the most impertinent manner. "There is a woman's logic for you," he murmured.

"Certainly," said M. Seneschal, "M. de Boiscoran's innocence will be promptly established. Nevertheless, suspicion will remain. And our people are so constituted, that this suspicion will overshadow his whole life. Twenty years hence, they will meet him, and think, 'Ah, there's the man who set Valpinson on fire!'"

This time it was not M. Galpin who replied, but the public prosecutor, who said sadly, "I cannot share your views; but that does not matter. After what has passed, our friend M. Galpin cannot retrace his steps; his own duty and the interests of the accused make that impossible. What would all these people, who have heard Cocoleu's deposition, and the evidence given by the witnesses, say, if the inquiry were stopped? They would certainly consider M. de Boiscoran was guilty, and attribute his not being prosecuted to the fact that he is rich and of noble birth. Upon my honor I believe him to be innocent. But because this is my conviction, I maintain that his innocence must be clearly established. No doubt he will enable us to do so. When he met Ribot, he told him he was on his way to see somebody at Brechy."

"But suppose he never went there?" objected M. Seneschal. "Suppose he did not see anybody there? Suppose it was only a pretext to satisfy Ribot's impertinent curiosity?"

"Well, then, he would only have to tell the truth in court. And look! here's an important point which in itself almost exculpates M. de Boiscoran. Would he not have loaded his gun with ball, if he had really thought of murdering the count? whereas we know it was loaded with nothing but small shot."

"And he would never have missed me at ten yards' distance," said the count.

At this moment somebody was heard knocking furiously at the door. "Come in!" cried M. Seneschal. The door opened and three peasants appeared, looking bewildered, but evidently pleased.

"We have just found something curious," said one of them.

"What is it?" asked M. Galpin-Daveline.

"Pitard says it is a cartridge case."

The Count de Claudieuse raised himself on his pillows, and said eagerly—"Let me see it. During these last days I have fired several times near the house to frighten away the birds that eat our fruit. I want to see if the case is one of mine."

The peasant gave it to him. It was a very thin lead case like those of the cartridge used in American breech-loading guns. Singularly enough it was blackened by burnt powder, although it had not been torn, nor had it blazed up in the discharge. It was so perfectly uninjured that the embossed letters of the manufacturer's name, Clebb, could be read.

"That cartridge never belonged to me," said the count, who, as he uttered these words, turned deadly pale, so pale that his wife looked at him with a glance full of terrible anguish.

He made no reply. But at that moment such silence was so eloquent that the countess felt sick at heart, and whispered in his ear—"Then Cocoleu was right after all!"

Not one feature of this dramatic scene had escaped M. Galpin-Daveline's watchful eye. He had surprised signs of terror on every face; still he made no remark. He took the metal case from the count's hands, knowing that it might become an important piece of evidence; and for nearly a minute he turned it round and round, looking at it from all sides, and examining it in the light with the utmost attention. Then turning to the peasants, who were standing respectfully near the door, he asked them—"Where did you find this cartridge, my friends?"

"Close by the old ivy-grown tower, where the fools are kept."

M. Seneschal, who had in the meantime succeeded in recovering his self-control, now remarked—"Surely the murderer cannot have fired from there. You cannot even see the door of the house from the old tower."

"That may be," replied the magistrate; "but the cartridge case does not necessarily fall to the ground at the place where the gun is discharged. It falls as soon as the gun is cocked to reload."

This was so true, that even Dr. Seignebos had nothing to say.

WIFE BURNS TO DEATH WHILE PASTOR PREACHES

DO NOT WORK AROUND THE HOUSE; IF YOU DO YOU WILL LOSE MONEY

There was no department of The Gazette of yesterday which did not sparkle. Each and every feature of the great Sunday journal was just as it should have been, bright, breezy, up-to-date. There was news, features, fiction, fun, skillfully prepared, wisely edited, tastefully displayed. In the Worker's Magazine, which accompanied the great paper, were suggestions of incalculable benefit to someone in every walk of life. This feature of the paper is becoming more popular with each succeeding week. The reason is obvious: each and every article appearing in the Worker's Magazine appeals in some personal way to everyone who works. One cannot read through any of the worker's stories without finding something which suits his particular case. In yesterday's Worker's Magazine you are told not to "Work Around the House; If You do You Lose Money," "Politeness Wins Big Pay for Bell Boy," "Be Honest With Yourself; It Will Help to Success," "Figuring Costs Vital Work in Big Plants," "Gold May Be Made of Copper; Is Alchemist's Dream True?" These are only a few. The rest are just as timely and as entertainingly told.

The front page of the Home Journal Section has a striking design on "The Queens of the Capital." Fletcher Robinson has another thrilling story on "The Trail of the Dead;" John Elfreth Watkins tells of "New Foods Brought to America," and C. F. Holder deals entertainingly with "The Largest Game Sharks." For the women readers there is Mme. Fullerton's usual Fashion Chat, an article on "Between Season Gowns," by Catherine Howard, and the Housewives' Congress.

Yesterday's great paper contained all of the latest local and domestic news, all that is transpiring in the European capitals, and had departments for society and club women unsurpassed. Altogether it was about the finest issue of The Sunday Gazette which has gone to its readers in weeks, and that's saying a good deal.

RAILROADS MUST ABOLISH ALL THE GRADE CROSSINGS

Maj. Brown in His Annual Report Gives Interesting Statistics Concerning Railway Operation in Pennsylvania During 1905.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Jan. 28.—"The legislature will not have done its duty until it passes a law which will prevent the construction of grade crossings in the future and also provide for the gradual elimination of those now in use."

With this comment Maj. Isaac B. Brown, secretary of internal affairs and chief of the state bureau of railways, brings to a close an interesting report to Gov. Pennypacker on the operations of the railroads of Pennsylvania the past fiscal year. Maj. Brown states in his report that all the efforts to induce the legislature of this state to provide for the elimination of grade crossings have been without avail and the tens of thousands of human lives sacrificed in a decade as the result of grade crossings have not seemed to make any decisive impression upon those whose duty it is under the constitution to provide wholesome laws for the protection of the lives and limbs of the citizens of Pennsylvania.

"Is it possible that," he asks, "imperative as are the duties devolving upon the legislative branch of this government another decade shall pass without proper legislation upon this important subject? Railroads are here to stay. Our commerce would be of all things insignificant from a comparative standpoint if it were not for the railroads, but that they ought to be constructed and operated with a view to safety of human lives cannot be denied."

The report shows the total number of accidents on the railroads of Pennsylvania for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, was 3,460 and of non-fatal accidents, 22,075, or a grand total of 25,535. Those railways whose lines are entirely within the state of Pennsylvania and those partly within have a combined capitalization of $3,929,381,211. The total mileage operated by railway corporations whose lines are wholly or in part in Pennsylvania was 29,-447.89. Of this total mileage operated 11,-845.90 miles are wholly within the limits of Pennsylvania. During the year there were constructed in this state 246.59 miles of railroad. Five years ago the total mileage in Pennsylvania was 10,697.68 and the total mileage operated was 26,975.86. The total number of locomotives in the service in this state is 15,079. In 1901 the total number of locomotives were 12,133, indicating an increase during the five years of 2,946.

The total number of steam railway employes is 434,474. Five years ago the number of employes was 335,895, an increase during the period of nearly 100,000 men.

The total number of passengers carried during the year was 281,607,690. The revenue from this source was $128,078,296. The total tonnage for the year was 626,440,819 tons. The revenue from this freight was $469,772,433. The passenger earnings for the year amounted to $167,507,456. The freight earnings amounted to $471,551,418. The operating expenses amounted to $431,-233,508. The dividends for the year foot up $177,739,630.

The report states that a study of the accidents on these roads discloses the fact that many of them have been caused through a failure to have equipment in perfect running order before it is placed in the train for use in transportation of persons or commodities.

WANTS PUBLICATION OF POLITICAL FUNDS

Organization Formed for Purpose Issues Address Calling for State and Federal Laws.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Publicity of election contributions and expenditures and the formation of organizations to promote these purposes in all states, are urged in an address issued tonight by the National Publicity Bill organization. The address is:

The secret and corrupt use of money in the election of the chief magistrate of a nation, its legislators and its state and municipal officers is a dangerous menace to the institutions of a free people. The profligate use of money for such purposes enables the consolidated interests, by secret contributions, to dominate political organizations, depriving the many of their political rights to confer them on the few.

It is confidently asserted that the first and most important measure of relief is the passage of a national law, requiring the disclosure, under oath, of every contribution of money and every promise of money in national campaigns, and in case of evasion, providing for exposure, detection and punishment substantially as set forth in a bill prepared under the auspices of this organization.

This organization desires to promote the formation of similar organizations in every state of the Union in order that the proposed national law may be supplemented by state legislation of like character and as nearly uniform as possible. This movement has the support of leading representative men of the political parties and of organized labor. It concerns the rights and honor of every citizen and the approval and active co-operation of all are earnestly invoked to carry this reform to a successful conclusion.

ARREST MAN AT PRAYER.

Police Interfere Because Worshiper Emphasizes Thoughts by Bumping His Head on the Floor.

Enthusiastic praying is receiving the close attention of the police—not by participation, but by close scrutiny in an effort to determine whether or not worshipers are violating city ordinances.

Last night George Novechiski of McKeesport was arrested in the Slavish Roman Catholic church, South Nineteenth and Mary streets. He is accused by the police of bumping his head violently upon the floor. He sustained no serious injuries, but it is said that a rule in the latest police manual was fractured. The communicant is also alleged to have broken a rule of etiquette by giving utterance to his prayers in such loud tones as to interrupt the line of thought of his co-communicants. So Novechiski was taken to a padded cell. The police believe that the prisoner is mentally unsound.

Governor's Primary Law Unpopular.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The uniform primary election law, proposed by Gov. Pennypacker, is not popular here. Assemblyman George Weingartner, of this county, estimates that the law would cost this county annually $3,500 for the spring primary election. The Republican party is the only one that holds a general primary here and it costs scarcely $1,000.

Makes Fatal Investigation.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Roy Jones, aged 15, son of G. P. Jones, was fatally injured in an explosion yesterday. With companions he filled a hole in a plank with powder and as it failed to explode he leaned over to investigate just as it let go. One eye was torn out, his skull fractured and one ear was torn off.

ALFONSO AND FIANCEE SPEND DELIGHTFUL DAY

Automobiles, Gay Uniforms, Flowers and Dinner Mark Gaieties of Young Royal Couple.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BIARRITZ, FRANCE, Jan. 28.—King Alfonso, accompanied by the military members of his household in full uniform, arrived today in automobiles to conduct Princess Ena of Battenberg, her mother, Princess Henry, and Prince Alexander of Battenberg to San Sebastian.

Princesses Ena and Henry and King Alfonso were in the first automobile and Prince Alexander and his suite in the second, the military officers following.

Everywhere along the route the royal party was enthusiastically greeted. At San Sebastian the entire population seemed to have turned out and flowers were showered on the princesses, to whom the municipality presented magnificent bouquets.

The queen mother, Maria Christina, received Princess Ena in the most gracious manner. After lunch at the palace, the king and princesses took a trip around the town and the surrounding country, returning for tea at the palace.

It is understood that King Alfonso will proclaim an unusually extensive amnesty on the occasion of the formal announcement of his betrothal.

Chinese to Visit Mount Vernon.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—With the exception of a visit to the Soldiers Home, and several official calls, the imperial Chinese commissioners spent the day quietly. Tomorrow, the whole party will go to Mount Vernon on the Dolphin.

WHAT IT MEANS TO YOU.

Few People Realize the Importance of Good Digestion Until It Is Lost.

Many people suffer from dyspepsia and do not know it. They feel mean, out of sorts, peevish, do not sleep well, do not have the inclination and energy for physical or mental work they once had, but at the same time do not feel any particular pain or distress in the stomach. Yet all this is the result of poor digestion, an insidious form of Dyspepsia which can only be cured by a remedy specially intended to cure it and make the digestive organs act naturally, and properly digest the food eaten. Bitters, after dinner pills and nerve tonics will never help the trouble; they don't reach it. The new medical discovery does. It is called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is a specific for dyspepsia and indigestion. It cures because it thoroughly digests all wholesome food taken into the stomach, whether the stomach is in good working order or not.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, by digesting the food, instead of making the worn out stomach do all the work, gives it a much needed rest and a cure of dyspepsia is the natural result.

When you are nervous, run down and sleepless, don't make the common mistake of supposing your nervous system needs treatment and fill your stomach with powerful nerve tonics which make you feel good for a little while, only to fall back farther than ever.

Your nerves are all right, but they are starved, they want food.

Nourish them with wholesome everyday food and plenty of it, well digested, and you can laugh at nerve tonics and medicine.

But the nerves will not be nourished from a weak, abused stomach, but when the digestion has been made perfect by the use of this remedy all nervous symptoms disappear.

Who ever heard of a man or woman blessed with a vigorous digestion and good appetite being troubled with their nerves?

Good digestion means a strong nervous system, abundance of energy and capacity to enjoy the good things of life.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will certainly set your stomach and digestive organs right; they can't help but do it because they nourish the body by digesting the food eaten and rest the stomach.

You get nourishment and rest at one and the same time, and that is all the worn-out dyspeptic needs to build him up and give new life to every organ and an added zest to every pleasure.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a godsend to the army of men and women with weak stomachs and nerves and justly merits the claim of being one of the most worthy medical discoveries of the time.

WARM MEETING OF THE BOWLERS

Nine Teams Join the Pittsburgh Association at a Representative Gathering.

The Pittsburgh Bowling association held a meeting on the Federal alleys last night. It was a representative meeting, every section in the County league and the South Pittsburgh league having delegates. The Liberty Valley league, consisting of eight clubs, made application for membership through President Seibel. The league was admitted unanimously. President Seibel was congratulated all around. He bashfully acknowledged the honor, and then all the lights went out. M. W. Fitzharris of the Tarentum team also made application, and was unanimously accepted. Fitzharris has gained a popularity among the local bowlers for his square and sportsmanlike conduct. He threatens to take a team to the Louisville tournament.

At the meeting the Pittsburgh section was represented by Austin Smith, the Allegheny section by Harry Gerstbrein, John Shota, Dan Houlahan, Joe Dinkel and Ed. Niedhart, the Monongahela section by Harry Votel, M. J. Dougherty and George Wolfe, and the South Pittsburgh league by Adam Hahn.

No delegates to the A. B. C. convention were elected, this matter having been left to the executive committee. The Pittsburgh association will elect only men who are certain to attend the convention, and for this reason postponed the election until the latter part of February. Pittsburgh is entitled to five delegates, and the bowlers will endeavor to elect the best men in sight.

There are over 40 club members of the association. For some reason, Glauser's McKees Rocks team did not make application.

At a meeting on the Federal alleys Thursday evening a new league was formed, to be known as the North Side Bowling league. The league will consist of six teams. The schedule is as follows:

February 1—W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. J. Eberlein-Gardner; Gormley-Gillespie vs. Haslett-Anderson; Martin-Hicks vs. Burry-Sauers.

February 8—Haslett-Anderson vs. Burry-Sauers; J. Eberlein-Gardner vs. Martin-Hicks; W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. Gormly-Gillespie.

February 15—Martin-Hicks vs. Gormly-Gillespie; W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. Haslett-Anderson; Burry-Sauers vs. J. Eberlein-Gardiner.

February 22—Gormly-Gillespie vs. Burry-Sauers; J. Eberlein-Gardiner vs. Haslett-Anderson; W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. Martin-Hicks.

February 29—J. Eberlein-Gardiner vs. Gormly-Gillespie; Burry-Sauers vs. W. Eberlein-Seiring; Haslett-Anderson vs. Martin-Hicks.

March 1—Haslett-Anderson vs. Burry-Sauers; Martin-Hicks vs. S. Eberlein-Gardiner; Gormly-Gillespie vs. W. Eberlein-Seiring.

March 8—W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. Haslett-Anderson; Gormly-Gillespie vs. Martin Hicks; J. Eberlein-Gardiner vs. Burry-Sauers.

March 15—Burry-Sauers vs. Martin-Hicks; W. Eberlein-Seiring vs. J. Eberlein-Gardiner; Haslett-Anderson vs. Gormly-Gillespie.

March 22—Gormly-Gillespie vs. J. Eberlein-Gardiner; Martin-Hicks vs. Haslett Anderson; Burry-Sauers vs. W. Eberlein-Seiring.

March 29—Martin-Hicks vs. W. Eberlein-Seiring; Burry-Sauers vs. Gormly-Gillespie; Haslett-Anderson vs. J. Eberlein-Gardiner.

The captains of the teams of the Allegheny section last night decided to divide the prize money as follows: Winning team, $30; second, $20; third, $10; high individual average of the season, $15; high individual three-game average, $5; high individual score, $5.

H. M. Watkins and O. B. Kehr have joined the Federal team and will be eligible to bowl on February 6.

E. Scanion will be eligible to bowl with the North Braddock team on January 31.

The match between the Millvale Independents and the Allegheny team, scheduled for Thursday, has been brought forward to Tuesday.

John Paulus, holder of the South Side challenge cup, is ready to bowl Mr. Hirsch on Thursday night. If not satisfactory, answer through The Gazette.

The undefeated Millvale Ducklets will play the Superior team on Sirlin alleys, Tuesday. Players are requested to report at 7:30 p. m.

The Millvale Pirates will roll the West Etna team on the Houlahen alleys, Millvale, tonight. The match will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Joe Nemeceb, John Nemeceb, Joe Klepplick, John Shota and Andy Seuss, members of K. C. team, are requested to report on the Federal alleys at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

Capt. Greb of the Schenley team requests all players to report at the Penn Avenue alleys tonight. Haymaker, please take notice.

A team has been organized to roll the East Liverpool team for $100 or more a side, the series to be of six games, three in Pittsburgh and three in East Liverpool, on February 6 and 8. The Pittsburgh team will consist of Harry Votel, Dan Houlahen, M. W. Fitzharris, Garry Green, John Higgins, Miles McGrath, John Hartman and Bill Schad. East Liverpool can answer through The Gazette.

Last night a social match was arranged between teams of good fellows, Adam Hahn's Stars and the Braddock Stars. The teams will be as follows: Hahn's Stars—Adam Hahn, captain; George Metzgar, Peter Hornick, Mike Nugent, Philip Saul, Andy Yockum, Ben Vey, Wallace Benn, John Gruber and Con Hahn. Braddock Stars—M. J. Dougherty, captain; John Higgins, August Seng, Ben Seng, William Seng, George Wolfe, Harry Votel, Tommy Garbitt, R. J. Butler and Thomas Reilly. A good time is the object. The captains will agree on dates, probably today.

JACK O'BRIEN PASSES UP CRAFTY TOMMY RYAN

Conqueror of Bob Fitzsimmons Says He Will Pay No Attention to Ancient Rival.

Sporting writers and friends of Philadelphia Jack O'Brien dropped in on him at the Hotel Henry last night, where he arrived yesterday from Cincinnati for his theatrical engagement here for the coming week. The conqueror of Fitzsimmons still bears a mark under his chin of Red Robert's mighty left.

"I don't intend to pay any attention to Tommy Ryan," said O'Brien, "unless he posts a forfeit. His talk is not on the level. McCary, manager of the Pacific Athletic club at Los Angeles, wired me that he would give Ryan any date. I replied, 'Ryan is kidding.' I will meet him at 158 pounds, or will take on Marvin Hart, or both, within three months."

In regard to Jack Palmer, the Englishman, O'Brien said he had replied to cables that he would consider $10,000, and $1,000 for expenses. The best offer he had received was £1,200, or 80 per cent. and $600 for expenses, the fight to take place in June in England. These terms are not satisfactory to O'Brien.

Fred. Cooley, who floored O'Brien last week and had him about out, is here with him and will be his sparring partner this week.

MARTIN JULIAN CHALLENGES WRESTLERS FOR FRED MARKS

Martin Julian, the manager of Fred. Marks, writes The Gazette as follows:

"I hereby challenge Fred Beel to engage in a wrestling contest with my new wrestling champion, Fred. Marks, before the club offering the best inducements, and will accommodate his manager with as large a side bet as that gentleman cares to make. Marks' best style is Graeco-Roman, but, in order to get this match on, I will agree to a contest of mixed styles, Graeco-Roman and catch-as-catch-can, a toss of a coin to decide the style of first bout, and the man winning a fall in the quickest time can name the style for the odd bout, if one is necessary. Best two out of three falls to decide the winner, and only pin falls to count, and a referee to be mutually agreed upon. I have deposited a forfeit of $200 with Walter St. Denis, sporting editor of the New York Evening Globe, as an evidence of good faith and will let the amount go as a side bet, or as much more as Harvey Parker, Bell's manager, cares to bet. Any date after the 12th of February will suit me, and I will be glad to have Beel or his manager accept this challenge at once, and if they take to the woods the challenge is open to any man in the world."

BUT ONE EVENT OF INTEREST REMAINS NOW

ORMOND-DAYTONA BEACH, FLA., Jan. 28.—The only event of interest that remains to be run in the automobile tournament is the two-mile-a-minute speed trial for the trophy and title of speed king. This event is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at the Daytona end of the course. The competitors for the prize and the title are Mariott and Chevrolet, representing, especially, America and France, and steam and gasoline power. There was talk today of a protest by the steamer car's owner against the gasoline car, but it came to naught, and the race will be run.

Clifford Earp may enter to make things lively. The steamer has been patched up and was out on the beach this afternoon for a trial spin. The 30-mile race and 15-mile race are scheduled for tomorrow morning, and in the afternoon, besides the speed king race, there are expected three ten-mile events and a one-mile race for middleweight gasoline. The races will probably conclude tomorrow.

To Appear at Show Wednesday.

Another boxer has been engaged for the big boxing show that the Business Men's club is to hold on Wednesday, February 7, at Armory hall, corner Forbes street and Craft avenue. It is the well known boxer, "Bananas," who made a hit at the show given by the National club last week. "Bananas" is the pupil of Jimmy Mason, and last winter was on at almost every show given by the latter. Manager Mason has made him start to work at the Business Men's club, and Larry Temple is going to show him some of the finer points of the game. An opponent will be selected for him. It is a good bet that this bout alone will have the people on their feet all the way. Those who desire can order their seats at once by mail from Jimmy Mason, care of the Business Men's club, 908 and 908 Fifth avenue. There will only be two prices for reserved seats, and they will be arranged just as they are numbered.

Carey Sold to Memphis Team.

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—George Carey, first baseman for Grand Rapids last season, has been sold to the Memphis club of the Southern league. Manager Ganzel paid Carey $300 a month. He bought him of Rochester last year for $500. The price paid by Memphis was not made public. Carey is an old National leaguer.

Allegheny section—Troy Hill vs. Crescents, on Troy Hill alleys.

MOSSE APPLIES FOR A POSITION AT LEHIGH

W. U. P. Football Coach Sees Handwriting on the Wall and Decides to Move.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL NEWS

Arthur St. Ledger Mosse, coach of the W. U. P. football team the past three seasons, has applied for a similar position for next year at Lehigh university. This act on his part may be taken as an evidence that he is slated to walk the plank at W. U. P., and it might also mean that Joe Thompson is slated to be shorn of his power and that a new man be employed. Mosse does not stand much show of securing the job at Lehigh.

It has been rumored for some time that W. U. P. will have a coach from some big university. Now that the "Big Nine" of the middle west have decided against professional coaches, W. U. P. it was stated yesterday by a W. U. P. student, will try to get Yost. George Brook and Arthur Hillebrand are eastern men being considered.

Hugo Bezdek will not be on hand to fill his old place at second base on the Chicago baseball team this spring. Bezdek, who has been absent from the university for the past few weeks, has decided not to return to school this quarter. He will not be eligible for the nine on account of "flunks," and it is probable that he will not re-enter school. Bezdek's friends declare that he may play professional baseball instead of retaining his amateur standing. He has received a number of offers, and it is likely that he will accept one of them.

With five teams scheduled in the newly organized Intercollegiate Association Football league, the devotees of the soccer game at Harvard are getting ready for a busy season, which will begin the 1st of March, when candidates for the crimson varsity team will be called out and practice begun under the direction of Capt. B. H. Squires. The following members of the last year's Harvard team are still in college and eligible this year: Capt. Squires, G. A. Gordon, A. V. Kidder, R. D. McLaurin, C. G. Mayer, A. W. Reggia, L. B. Robinson, W. T. S. Thackara. There is a strong contingent of Canadians in the freshman class who should aid materially in turning out a strong Harvard team.

At Dartmouth a track squad of 70 men is working regularly under Trainer Bowler. Though no meets are scheduled for the winter months, Dartmouth will take an active part in indoor relay racing. The two-mile quartet, which defeated Yale for the national championship at Worcester last spring, remains intact—Thrall, Jennings, Carus and Shipley. Dartmouth has taken up hockey this winter for the first time.

Morgan Park academy track athletes outdistanced the Englewood High school boys at Chicago Saturday in an indoor meet, winning by a score of 43 to 27. Garrett, the Morgan Park's star all-around athlete, did sensational work, winning 15 points and setting a new prep school record in the shotput. He put the 12-pound weight a distance of 48 feet 3 inches, which is several feet better than any mark made by an academy athlete in an indoor meet in the west. The Cook county high school record is 43 feet 7 inches, held by Roy Maddigan, now of the University of Chicago. The best previous interscholastic record for the Bartlett gym was 46 feet 7 inches, made by Gerry Williamson, also of the University of Chicago.

The center of attraction in baseball circles at Notre Dame is Jose Caberro, a Filipino, who is trying for the outfield. He is a fast player and stands a show to make good.

At a meeting of the joint athletic committee of the University of California and Standford university, held last week, a sub-committee of six was appointed to consider all objections to football. The main recommendation of the joint committee was the adoption of English rugby for the next intercollegiate freshmen game. The committee also recommended that no person be allowed to compete on either varsity football team until he has completed one year's work in residence at the university he represents.

In the hockey game Saturday night conspicuous among the violators of the playing code was Capt. Flinn of Yale, whose work earned for him three temporary disqualifications by the referee and frequent hisses from the crowd. Other offenders were Armstrong, McKenzie, Marcus, Barton and Alling, all of whom were disciplined by the referee.

The Harvard five has developed a remarkable defense which few teams are able to work successfully. Anberg, the big center, gets into the defense and the offense and throws baskets well. The star in the basket line is little Griffiths, the captain, who has been on the team for four years. He is from Pittsburgh. He has a knack for shooting that helps wonderfully in piling up the Crimson score.

Arrangements have been made for another Harvard-Cornell boat race. The race will be held on the Charles river, on May 26, and the crews will row over a 1¾-mile course, the same distance as last year. In the race last year, which was rowed on the last Saturday in May, Cornell defeated Harvard decisively.

CHICAGO MAY TRADE TWO LOCAL TOSSERS

Frank Smith and Gus Dundon, According to Rumor, Are to Be Sent to St. Louis.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—A big trade is alleged to be under way between the Chicago Americans and the St. Louis Browns. The deal, according to people who have heard the floating gossip, involves a trade of Dundon, Green and Rohe, plus $1,000, for Outfielder George Stone of St. Louis. At first sight the deal seems none too probable, owing to the fact that teams hate to part with hard hitters, but strange things are happening in baseball all the time.

The deal, if completed, would be a great cinch for Comiskey. He does not need Dundon, despite the great fielding of Gustave. He does not need Green, as he has Hemphill and O'Neill, and he does not need Rohe enough to let him stand in the way of an advantageous trade. He does, though, need batsmen—and Stone is the boy who can smite the ball.

Another version of the trade has it that Frank Smith, who is dissatisfied with Chicago, will be traded for Stone.

RULES TO GOVERN TRI-STATE LEAGUE

President Carpenter Announces the Regulations to Bind the Teams This Season.

PROVISIONS ARE STRINGENT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ALTOONA, Jan. 28.—The special rules to govern the Tri-State the coming summer have been announced by President Charles F. Carpenter. They are as follows:

No ball player under contract with either of the major leagues can participate in any Tri-State games unless signed regularly for the season by the club which plays him.

No Tri-State club can recognize any outside club in a city where the Tri-State holds a franchise.

All disputes will be passed upon by the president, likewise all contracts with players.

Any changes two managers make in the playing schedule must be with the approval of the league president.

The sum of $100 will be the guarantee for visiting teams, with a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Five per cent of the receipts must go to the maintenance of the league, except where this percentage would fall below $5, when that sum must be paid.

Postponed games must be played off the next time the same teams meet in the town in which the game was postponed.

Any team failing to appear on the scheduled date, except for causes over which the club exercises no control, will be liable to a fine of $25.

The maximum free list, including press, season and individual tickets, shall not exceed 100 tickets.

Any team refusing to play after the umpire calls "Play" shall be given ten minutes to resume the game, and if it still refuses said team shall forfeit the game, pay a fine of $100, waive all rights to the guarantee or percentage, and the fine, when paid, shall go to the club suffering by said team aforesaid refusing to play.

The league president shall deal with all unruly players in the same manner and with the same power as is vested in the presidents of the National and American leagues.

All decisions by the league president shall be final.

Umpires will have entire charge of all balls during games, and they shall be given to him before the game opens.

Each club must place on file a bond for $2,500 to finish the season and fulfill all obligations.

Season and press tickets for each team must be in coupon form and the ticket boxes must show a ticket for every admission to every game, paid or free.

Washington Fans Satisfied.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—It was announced here tonight that steps for the organization of a permanent baseball organization in Washington had been completed and that an application for a state charter would be made tomorrow. General satisfaction is expressed that Steubenville was admitted to the new Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia league and that the season will not open before the last of May.

Myersdale Club Reorganizes.

MEYERSDALE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A baseball association was formed here yesterday by the election of John H. Pfahler, president; Eugene R. Picto, treasurer; William H. Dill, secretary. Professional players will be secured. The club will not affiliate with the county league now being formed, but will play independent ball.

POOR PLAYING LOST FOR PITTSBURGH SEVEN

Pittsburgh's hockey team tackles American Soo at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., tonight. On the result of this game and two others to follow on the same ice will depend whether Capt. Sixsmith and his fast bunch returns home in first place. If the locals win tonight they will nose into the van of the league procession and will lead Portage Lake, the present leaders, by six points.

The Pittsburgh defeat in the first game of the Calumet series last week was a surprise, especially in view of Friday night's shut-out of the Michigan team. A letter explaining it was received from Secretary F. L. Danahey by Manager A. S. McSwigan yesterday. It reads:

"Doubtless you were surprised at the easy manner in which Calumet handed us a defeat Monday night. It can be accounted for—first, that our team is crippled, and second, that the defense did not play its usual game. Hod and Baird did too much rushing, instead of staying on the defense. Calumet played, in my opinion, beyond its speed, and with Pittsburgh playing ping pong hockey it was a cinch. Garnet Sixsmith's ankle is still in bad shape, and Kent was a poor substitute. Arthur Sixsmith was useless, as his side bothered him and he could not get in the mixups. It was the worst game I ever saw Campbell play. In fact, all the boys had an off night and thus we lost a glorious opportunity to crawl up.

"Last Wednesday night we started the game with Garnet Sixsmith at forward and Arthur on the bench. Calumet again started off in whirlwind fashion and soon scored two goals. During the 15 minutes Garnet was in the game he never touched the puck. His ankle prevented his getting in the runs. The two goals scored were easy and should have been stopped by Winchester. With the score 2 to 0 in Calumet's favor Arthur jumped in. He could not play his usual game, but bothered Gardner and Scott so much that both these players lost all interest in the puck and confined their time to chasing Sixey.

"We soon tied up the score and during the second half a pretty run by Stuart and shot by Roberts landed us the victory.

"Unless the two Sixsmiths get in better shape I'm afraid we'll have a hard time winning a game from the Soo. Ferguson has a great team, and on his own ice is almost invincible.

"Our players are all behaving finely. The team is in harmony and anxious to win. If we win Friday night and take one from the American Soo next week we can see the championship pennant flying from the flag pole on the garden, as we can beat Calumet and Portage Lake when we meet them in Pittsburgh."

Schrecker to Meet Deibel.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Ed Schrecker of Pittsburgh will meet Frank Deibel of this city in a pool match here next Wednesday evening for a purse of $50 and a side bet.

BAD COLORED MAN IS PUNCHED BY EX-FIGHTER

It was on a Wilkinsburg car late Saturday night, or rather Sunday morning, and the car was filled. The rear platform was densely packed, and it locked as though late sightseers were "riding on the bell rope." A negro, a large young fellow, standing over six feet and weighing over 200 pounds, got on. He made more noise than all others on the car combined, and he did much pushing and shoving. He also rang the bell when he wanted the car to stop or start. He was having a good time all by himself.

In front of him was a young-looking well-dressed man. He had his face towards the window and was paying no attention to the disturber until he began to shove him. Then he was shoved against the side of the car with force.

"Here, what are you trying to start," the white demanded.

"Don't sass me, fellah," was the reply.

A right jab was sent to the darky's face, then a left poke, then a swing, this time to the jaw. The left was whipped into the stomach. All these swings were delivered in a few seconds, and the colored gent was hurled off the car and into the street. The car started.

After the crowd had been satisfied that murder had not been committed, someone asked a person who had watched the whole occurrence: "Who was that fellow who punched the alleged bad man."

"Did you ever hear of Red Mason? Yes. Well, that was he."

TEN-YARD RULE IS ADOPTED BY SOLONS

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 28.—Upon his return from New York today, William T. Reid, Jr., secretary of the football rules committee, gave out the following additional modification of the rules, which was omitted in the statement issued last night in New York:

"The 10-yard rule was passed, without, however, any action as to the number of downs that shall be allowed a team to make the distance in. The matter of the number of downs will be taken up subsequently."

GLEASON WILL SEND HIS PITCHERS AHEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—The Phillies will likely try a new experiment in their spring training. Capt. Bill Gleason has suggested to President Shettsline the advisability of taking the colt pitchers and catchers to Savannah a week ahead of the regular team.

A week's practice under the eye of the veteran will serve to give the youngsters more confidence to contest for regular positions when the older members of the team arrive. President Shettsline thinks that the idea is a good one and will likely approve of the suggestion.

The men to take the trip will probably be Pitchers Kane, Hoff, McCloskey, McSurdy, Lush and Moren and Catchers Munson, Donovan and Crist. Bill Duggleby will likely accompany this contingent to assist Gleason in the coaching. The regular team will leave either on Moren 2 or March 6.

O'TOOLE IS OUT-FOUGHT BY JIMMY WALSH

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—(Special.)—Tommy O'Toole of Fort Richmond, one of the best boys in his class in this city, couldn't do the sum when he faced Jimmy Walsh, the Boston bantam, who has eyes on the world's championship at the National A. C., last night.

Walsh hit truer, used better generalship and wholly outclassed the local boy in science.

OUTLOOK FOR SEVEN DAYS PROMISES LITTLE ENERGY

Except for possible developments in the Franco-Venezuelan crisis and possible though unexpected complications in the Moroccan conference, the week begins with little promise of news events of an unusual character. The critical point in the Franco-Venezuelan situation which seemed imminent has passed for the moment, as France has announced that she will wait "a propitious time" for taking action against Venezuela. It is intimated that her desire is to await the conclusion of the Algeciras conference.

The Moroccan conference promises no very definite action, as the graver problems it is to confront are yet some ways off. Though the assignment of the delegates is more marked there is still a feeling of uncertainty. It is generally believed that the longer the conference lasts the better will be the chances for its successful termination. The private discussions which the French and German delegates have had have created an optimistic feeling.

Consider Chinese Boycott.

The senate will begin the week with the consideration of the Chinese boycott. When the resolution on the question was presented Mr. Tillman asked for immediate consideration, but Mr. Aldrich objected. It is understood that he and other Republican senators dislike the preamble which assumes the reported leadership of Former Minister Wu Ting Fang in the boycott. Mr. Tillman is disposed to insist upon the retention of this phraseology.

Senator Gallinger will make an effort Monday to secure further consideration of the shipping bill, and it is his purpose to press that measure. In this policy he will be supported for the present by many Republican senators. It is suspected by some of the friends of the shipping bill that there is a disposition to keep the measure in its place for the purpose of holding off the statehood bill. It looks as if the fight over the admission of new states might be initiated in this way.

Mr. Gallinger will offer further amendments to his bill on Monday, and either then or later in the week he and Senators Lodge and Penrose will make speeches in support of the bill.

Promise Statehood Battle.

The statehood bill will be reported by Senator Beveridge on Monday. The committee has given no instructions as to bringing the bill up in the senate, but he will press it as rapidly as he can. The friends of the bill expect very determined opposition, and a long contest is probable. The principal point of controversy is the union of New Mexico and Arizona, and an especial effort will be made to secure the adoption of Senator Foraker's amendment giving the people of Arizona an opportunity to vote separately on the proposition.

Senator Heyburn has given notice of a request, Monday, for unanimous consent to fix a time for voting on the pure food bill, but he will probably not succeed.

The indications are that there will be very little if any more discussion of the Moroccan question; but there will be additional speeches on the status of affairs in Santo Domingo. The Isle of Pines treaty will be reported early in the week. Mr. Foraker will have charge of it and will try to secure an early vote. There will be an effort made to amend the treaty so as to protect the rights of Americans.

In the house the Hepburn railroad rate bill indorsed alike by Republicans and Democrats of the interstate and foreign commerce committees, is to be the legislative feature of the week. The bill is to be brought in with absolutely no restrictions as to debate or amendment. Its consideration will begin Tuesday.

"We are to give the house a new sensation," said one of the members who has a hand in making the program of legislation. "It is seldom that the house can indulge itself in unrestricted talk and unhampered opportunity for amendment on any given subject of legislation. On the railroad rate bill the bars are to be left entirely down."

JAPAN FACES HARD PROBLEM IN KOREA

Status of Affairs Very Unsatisfactory—"Protectors" Are at Loss How to Proceed.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.)

SEOUL, KOREA, Dec. 15.—The political situation has been one of extreme interest. It seems to be undoubtedly true that the Japanese have been able to put through their program with greater celerity than they had expected and that once their protectorate has been established they are rather at a loss as to how to proceed.

There is really no head to anything. The cabinet ministers are afraid to leave their houses, and they do business when necessary by telephone. The emperor refuses to see anyone, and Mr. Morgan, the American minister, left without a farewell audience because his majesty wished to avoid seeing the Japanese minister, as he would have had to do in case he had received the American representative.

By their treaty the Japanese have established a protectorate, and declared that there shall be a resident general, who shall rank everyone, and replace the legation and the minister, and that he shall attend to all diplomatic affairs. These provisions would seem to necessitate the abolition of the foreign office, as it has already entailed the withdrawal of several of the foreign ministers.

Mr. Hayashi is supposedly acting resident general, although still holding his position as minister, as no notification has been sent to the foreign legations of the change in his status. While nominally supreme, he is ranked by the commander-in-chief, Gen. Hassegawa, and while invested by the treaty with the control of "diplomatic affairs," he still permits the foreign office, now under the direction of Mr. Stevens—for no Korean will accept the billet of minister for foreign affairs—to exist.

His majesty still fails to grasp the situation, and continues to seek the advice of anyone who will tender it.

The problem which the Japanese have in working out the establishment of a protectorate over Korea in all its details is a difficult one. The feeling between the two races and the keen competition between the lower orders of the two peoples complicate matters and increase the difficulties of the already delicate situation.

CONSOLIDATE INTERESTS.

Telephone Companies Operating in Noble County, O., Are Brought Under One Management.

CALDWELL, O., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—A deal has been closed by which the largest of the telephone companies operating in Noble county have consolidated under the name of the Noble County Telephone Company. The companies in the combine are: The Caldwell Independent Telephone Company and the Farmers Telephone Company, of Caldwell; The Summerfield Telephone Company of Summerfield, and the Caldwell & Marietta Telephone Company of Washington county.

The system will be managed by the United States Telephone Company. The company will have 500 miles of toll line. This is a victory for the United States Telephone Company over the Bell interests, as the latter already had negotiations under way to secure control of a part of the system.

HARBOR ALMOST CLEAR.

A. R. Budd, president of the A. R. Budd Coal Company, returned to the city yesterday after several days' absence on a business trip.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal & Coke Company has shipped everything it had in the Pittsburgh harbor on the last rise with the exception of three heavy coalboats that remain in the first pool. These would have been sent out yesterday, but the water was not of sufficient depth to insure their safe passage down stream.

The Charley Brown started for Louisville with 23 barges and 2 light boats, and the Tom Dodsworth got in from Cincinnati with a big tow of empties.

This winter has been one of the best in years for river interests locally. The mild weather and consequent absence of any considerable quantity of ice in the streams has made light navigation possible at all times, and the frequency of rains has caused almost weekly rises in the two streams emptying into the Ohio. The result has been bigger shipments of coal and other freight sent by the river route, and has given the south more and somewhat cheaper coal than is possible in a hard winter.

RAW WINDS IN PARKS KEEP DOWN ATTENDANCE

Marked Contrast to the Crowds of the Previous Sunday—Visitors Clad in Furs.

Pittsburgh's parks presented a deserted appearance yesterday afternoon. The gloomy sky overcast with dark clouds and the raw air kept the few who ventured out moving rapidly to keep their blood in circulation. The vagaries of the present winter could not be more clearly demonstrated that by contrasting the people who visited the parks the previous Sunday and yesterday. The June weather of the 21st drew a crowd which exceeded anything in the history of Pittsburgh's parks, and the prevailing costume was the lightest of spring apparel. Yesterday the records for the smallest attendance were in danger of being broken, and the few who were in the parks were clad in furs and winter clothing. Last Sunday the driveways were a mass of color with smart traps and automobiles, while yesterday few vehicles faced the penetrating winds.

The Phipps conservatory lacked the usual throng of Sunday afternoon visitors, but nearly all who were out walked through there as a possible means of shelter. The last day of the salon exhibit of the photographic section of the Academy of Science and Art drew a crowd of 1,800, in comparison with the record-breaking attendance of 3,000 last Sunday. Tomorrow the pictures will be removed, and the oil paintings replaced. This will be the last photographic salon to be held in the temporary art gallery, as on July 1 the pictures will be taken to the museum and the building torn down.

The organ recital in Carnegie music hall drew a fair-sized audience, and those who attended listened to an excellent program of eight numbers by Dr. J. Lewis Brown of Atlanta, Ga. The recitals next Saturday and Sunday will be given by W. K. Steiner of Pittsburgh.

The zoological gardens in Highland park were even more deserted than Schenley park and the polar bear and seal reveled in the icy waters with a sort of revengeful glee that they could have their fun as well as the animals from the warmer climes, who were so delighted the Sunday before.

FIRE AT BIG HOSPITAL.

Quiet Work by Staff and Response With Muffled Bells Saves Panic Among Patients.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Eight hundred patients in Bellevue hospital were endangered by a fire in the laundry building early today, yet, through the quiet and effective work of the hospital fire brigade and the regular firemen, only a small number in some of the outlying places were awakened. The fire threatened to become serious, as there are several small buildings, some of frame construction, near the laundry by way of which the flames might have reached the main building.

The fire was confined to the laundry with a few thousand dollars' damage. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have started the blaze, a remarkable feature of which was that sheets of asbestos, supposedly fireproof, burned like tinder, according to Steward Philip H. Smith, chief of the hospital fire brigade.

SHOT DURING DANCE.

Tammany Hall Ball Furnishes Excitement When Weapons Are Flashed in Midst of Whirling Couples.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—As a result of a shooting early today at a dance by the Metamora Social club in Tammany hall, Antonio Platanio, a young barber, is in a hospital with a serious though not fatal wound. He was shot in the back by Jack McKeon, aged 18, while both men were dancing with young women on the crowded ballroom floor.

McKeon and Patrick Smith, charged with striking Platanio before he was shot, were held by the police.

VOTE $250,000 FOR NEW TEMPLE

Reform Congregation Rodeph Shalom Awards Contract for Building in Shadyside.

TO BE READY IN SEPTEMBER

At a congregational meeting of the Reformed Congregation Rodeph Shalom in the Colonial hotel yesterday afternoon, the plans of the building committee for the new temple to be erected at Fifth avenue and Bidwell street were unanimously adopted and building operations will be begun at the earliest possible moment, with the expectation that the structure will be ready for dedication in September. The meeting was attended by 225 members of the congregation, and addresses were made commending and approving the work of the building committee.

The total cost of the new temple, including the $60,000 lot, is to be $310,000, and the contract for its erection was awarded to Thomas Reilly of Philadelphia, the builder of the cathedral. The building is to be of light brick and terra cotta and will have a frontage of 92 feet on Fifth avenue and a depth of 198 feet. These dimensions will permit of considerable open space around the building to insure light, as the lot has a frontage of 126 feet and a depth of 240 feet.

The architects are Palmer & Hornbostel of New York, whose plans were adopted in competition, and who were the designers of the Carnegie Technical schools. The building will be entirely covered by a dome and will have an entrance foyer 17x58 feet. The main auditorium will have a seating capacity of 1,100, while in the rear, on the main floor, another auditorium will provide a seating capacity of 250, with adjoining Sunday school rooms permitting an additional seating capacity of 250. On the second floor, four additional Sunday school rooms, library, study and ladies' and gentlemens' parlors will be provided. The basement will include a kitchen and boiler and store rooms.

The final adoption of these plans and the sanction of the congregation for the expenditure of $310,000 is unprecedented among Jewish congregations from the fact that the congregation dedicated a new $75,000 building but five years ago. This structure, which was erected in Eighth street, was dedicated entirely free of debt on September 9, 1901, when the rabbi, the Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy, raised $120,000 in contributions on the day of the dedication. Previously the congregation was $80,000 in debt. Efforts are to be made at once to also dedicate the new $310,000 property free of debt. At the time of the dedication of the former building the congregation had a membership of 150 families, while the membership today includes 450 families.

Local.

Director Bigelow claims the Citizens-Democratic machine will increase its majority in councils. Capt. John Johnson of the steamer Valencia was formerly a McKeesport councilman. Intimation was made that a monster hotel, with a railroad station in the basement, will occupy the site of the old cathedral. A. M. Jenkinson has shown that a business man makes a good political campaigner, contrary to the usual opinion. A negro burglar was sentenced to serve eight years in the penitentiary. The city administration decided on a $2,000,000 bond issue for water extension and the payment of judgments. Director Bigelow said Old City hall will not be rebuilt. Andrew Carnegie paid a loving tribute to the memory of his mother. Rosenbaum Company bought the Horne-Stewart stores for $500,000.

Domestic.

Col. William D. Mann, editor of Town Topics, was arrested on a charge of perjury, and furnished $10,000 bail. Senate committee on interoceanic canals plan some radical changes in the Panama work. Society folk in Florida put hounds on thieves and indulged in an exciting hunt. Hepburn railroad rate bill reported in the house of representatives, with indorsement of both parties. Democratic senate leaders fear White House influence may break their ranks over Dominican treaty. Canal committee decided to recommend lock canal. Gridiron club told President Roosevelt how to dig a canal, at a dinner at which he was a guest. Senator Penrose will assist interests of Pennsylvania by opposing Philippine tariff bill. The Caldwell decision has reopened the factional political fight in West Virginia. Railroad lobbyists could not prevent the passage of the two-cents-per-mile bill in Ohio legislature. Chief of Police Logan received instructions from the district attorney to drive all suspected anarchists out of the valley. Several gubernatorial aspirants were in Harrisburg last week looking over conditions.

The czar announced the kaiser as his ally, and forced French understanding to the rear. The Germans consider Algeciras meeting as of minor importance. Queen Alexandra's skill with the kodak gives to London new views of court life. Duke of Marlborough secured an apology from a caustic critic. A London millhand who cannot read became a philology teacher. Earl of Leicester, aged 85, is still a devotee of sport. Princess Louise of Saxe-Coburg is writing a book in which court secrets will be told.

Sports.

Many little fighters want to match with Jimmy Britt. Race for first place in the bowling league is close and exciting. Clifford Earp, the Englishman, raced to a new 100-mile automobile record with a lost tire. Steubenville was admitted into the Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia league. Technical school beat the All-Collegians at hockey. The Pittsburgh hockey team is making a fine record in the west. Dr. Leggo won the Burns handicap at San Francisco. Proper finishing third.

Break in Reading unsettled the New York stock market, which closed weak. In the local market, Electric declined to 83. Another large expansion in New York bank loans and small decrease in surplus reserves. Grain closed lower in the Chicago market.

ALIVE WITH ENGINEERS.

Corps Are Working Between Meyersdale and Connellsville for Wabash and B. & O.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—The section between here and Meyersdale is fairly alive with engineering corps, some in the pay of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and some employed by the Wabash. Many of the former are camping at Indian creek, on the side of the stream where the Wabash is contemplating tracks. Others are working out from Meyersdale. There is sharp rivalry between the employes of the two companies.

The Baltimore & Ohio engineers complain that the Wabash men have even run their lines over ground cleared by the Baltimore & Ohio. It is believed that the Wabash's last connecting link in the transcontinental system is to go through the Connellsville coke region.

SEND KINDLY MESSAGE TO M'KINLEY'S WIDOW

Audience at Memorial Service for Martyred President Unites in Graceful Tribute.

McKinley memorial services were held yesterday afternoon at the Alvin theater by the Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, a large audience gathering to pay tribute to the martyred president, whose birthday anniversay is today. At the conclusion of the meeting a telegram was sent by the congregation to Mrs. McKinley, giving her greeting and expressing thanks for the memory of her illustrious husband.

In the course of the service special music was rendered by the Gernert orchestra and solos were given by Miss Minnie C. Davis, contralto. "Lead Kindly Light" and "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung by the congregation under the leadership of Tali Esen Morgan. Dr. Young took as his theme, "Nearer My God to Thee," and said in part:

To the lot of William McKinley it has fallen to be perpetually associated with a religious hymn, and little less blessed is the fortune of that hymn to be associated with William McKinley. The Christian world has found it a vehicle for expressing the soul's deepest, abiding prayer. I can conceive after ages quoting as McKinley's highest title to earthly immortality his living the sentiment, and on his deathbed bequeathing to his countrymen the sentiment, of "Nearer, My God, To Thee."

McKinley in his lifetime, especially during his presidency, illustrated on a national scale the principle of responsiveness when he advanced half way in extending a fraternal hand to the south, and in returning the flags of the confederacy. No one before him accomplished so much in the way of reuniting the north and south. You may note a fine fitness in the mourning of the united nation for General Joseph E. Wheeler on McKinley day, for the two were devoted friends.

ESTABLISH NEW COUNCIL.

Members of Knights of Columbus from Three States Attend the Ceremonies.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 28.—(Special.)—More than 700 Knights of Columbus from Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia participated in the exercises here today incident to the establishment of council No. 1083. Visiting knights arrived on special trains from Kittanning, Wheeling and Pittsburgh. At 11 o'clock this morning a special mass for the 60 initiates was offered in the Church of the Immaculate Conception by the pastor, the Rev. Father John J. Faughnan. At noon lunch for 800 persons was served.

This afternoon in the parochial school building the initiatory exercises proper were administered, three degrees being awarded. Charleroi council had charge of the first degree, Chartiers council of Crafton of the second, while the third was in charge of Dr. C. A. Wingerter, West Virginia, state deputy; Harry A. Lowe and the degree team of the various councils of Pittsburgh.

CIGARET SMOKER SLEEPS; SETS FIRE TO HIS BED

A boarder in the house of John Thelma, in the rear of 1519 Bingham street, South Side, went to bed last night with a lighted cigaret. He fell asleep and the cigaret dropped among the bed clothes, setting the bed on fire. The damage amounted to $5.

BARGAINS IN MEDICINE.

A woman once wrote us that she was not going to buy Scott's Emulsion any more because it cost too much. Said she could get some other emulsion for less money. Penny wise and pound foolish. Scott's Emulsion costs more because it is worth more—costs more to make. We could make Scott's Emulsion cost less by using less oil. Could take less care in making it, too. If we did, however, Scott's Emulsion wouldn't be the standard preparation of cod liver oil as it is to-day.

DEFINES UNITARIAN VIEW OF SALVATION

Rev. Thomas Clayton Calls It a Matter Which Concerns the Body as Well as the Soul.

"The Unitarian View of Salvation," was the theme of the sermon given by the Rev. Thomas Clayton, pastor of the Second Unitarian church, at Carnegie hall last evening. He said in part:

Unitarians accept the established facts of biology. This leads us to reject the story of man's fall in Adam. We believe that man has been ascending from the very beginning and will continue to progress forever. He is neither fallen nor depraved, except as each man becomes so through continual indulgence in evil ways. Unitarians apply the term "salvation" to the whole man, here and now; believing salvation "is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and of that which is to come."

Salvation is a matter that concerns the body as well as the soul. The salvation of the body is a concern of the present, not a resurrection of the future. Unless the body is rightly developed, preserved and devoted to its legitimate ends, we shall lose much of the good of life; for through the body the soul receives the highest and noblest sensations and experiences. Salvation is also a matter of the mind. Many people lose nine-tenths of their possible intellectual life, because their minds are neglected. Education is part of the true gospel. It means the opening of the eyes of the blind to see the goodness of God revealed in the universe. Hence we glory in all the arts and sciences. It is the mission of the church to redeem mankind from ignorance to such a mental life as will enable them to appreciate God and His wonderful creation.

Unitarians believe in the salvation of the moral and religious nature of man, which may become blunted and lost through continual sin. The gospel is meant to awaken men to the fact that God is their Father and to Him they owe love and service. While the Bible plays a large part in this moral and religious nature of man, all other good books and influences of nature contribute to the same end. The salvation of the body to a long and healthy life is a great factor in the salvation of the soul. Salvation to be real and complete must embrace the whole man, body, mind and soul. For if the present life is lost, there can not be much in the future.

CHURCH IS FOUNDED ON CHRIST'S DIVINITY

Eliminate This Doctrine and the New Testament is No More Than Book of Fables.

"Is Jesus Christ Divine? Is the Christian Church Surrendering Belief in This Doctrine?" That was the subject of the sermon delivered yesterday morning in the West End Presbyterian church by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo. He took as his text, John 1:1-xiii. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us." Dr. Donehoo said in part:

Is Jesus Christ divine? If He is not, it is time we were finding it out. If He was, then we ought to emphasize the truth at this time, when the enemies of Christianity are making false charges against us. It is no time for argumentation on this point, since the church long ago made up her mind unalterably on the doctrine that Jesus Christ is divine. Charges have just been made that many Christians have given up the doctrine, and with it their belief in the miracles of Jesus Christ. It is consoling to know that Christians view these charges very much as they did those of John Jasper that "the sun do move;" only with this difference, Jasper's assertions were simply amusing, while these charges are looked upon as an insult gratuitously offered to every Christian believer the world over.

Was Jesus Christ divine? If He was not, then the whole Christian world has been mistaken, while Jesus Himself was a rank impostor, a false teacher, a base deceiver. This much is certain, He believed Himself to be divine, while those who conspired against His life gave as their reason for doing so, "He maketh Himself to be the Son of God." So thoroughly were His followers convinced that He was divine that they cheerfully bore testimony to the fact with their lives. His life and works abundantly show that He was possessed with divine power. In this belief the church started forth to the conquest of the world for Him. And from the day that He was received up into heaven His followers the world over have never faltered under the most trying circumstances to proclaim their faith, "I believe in God the Father Almighty, and in Jesus Christ His only Son, our Lord."

If Jesus Christ was not divine the New Testament is no more worthy of credence than a book of fables, since the only way to rid it of this doctrine is to mutilate it beyond recognition, as do the enemies of our Lord, until it is left as empty as was the garden sepulchre on that first Easter morning. If Jesus Christ was not divine, His disciples and apostles, and His followers to this day, without exception, were the victims of a gross deception, or themselves guilty participants in a wicked conspiracy for which the world ought never to forgive them.

With the passing of Christ's divinity, if such were conceivable, would go all hope of a resurrection after death, all prospects of immortality, all thought of heaven; while in their place would settle down upon the world darkness and death and eternal despair. The church of Christ was never so thoroughly rooted and grounded in the belief that Jesus is the Christ and the Lord of Glory as they are at this present moment.

His purse contained $80.
